Volstead Act Cases Block Court

Public Tennis Court Provided By the City a Novelty in Local Municipal Recreation

NEW TENNIS COURT AT SHEDD PARK

Lowell's first public tennis court has been opened at Shedd park near the junction of Rogers and Boylston streets and although it has been ready for use only a few days, scores of young people have already taken advantage of it.

The court was built by employees of the park department and is of regulation size with a clay surface and proper netting. The park department plans to establish similar courts in other sections of the city as its finances allow. In many New England cities the tennis courts are one of the most popular features of the municipal recreation activities and although the game has not as yet gained great headway here because of lack of proper facilities, it is believed that it will gradually gain a foothold when the general public becomes aware of the beneficial exercise to be derived from the sport.

The park department has not yet drawn up any set program of rules and regulations to govern the use of the court but if the demand warrants it, the same system that is used in allotting baseball diamonds on the public parks will be put into effect; that is application will have to be made in advance for its use.

However, one rule which will be carefully and rigidly enforced, is that nobody who wishes to use the court will be allowed to wear shoes with heels. The heels make an impression in the clay and these later develop into ridges that make the playing surface most uncomfortable. Tennis shoes or sneakers should be worn. Supl. John W. Kernan of the park department hopes eventually to carry out his own ball and racquet for the present, at least, he says.

It will be recalled that the park commission first planned to establish the tennis court in Fort Hill park in front of Rogers Hall school but the protest was so great that Shedd park was resorted to. The latter park has not yet been developed but the location of the tennis court has been planned to dovetail with the general development scheme which the department hopes eventually to carry out here.

Stimulation of interest in the new court has been given children of that section of the city by Frank Gleason of 41 Boylston street, a college man who was formerly the tennis champion of Pulnam, Conn. Mr. Gleason is an ardent tennis enthusiast and during the past few evenings he has spent hours demonstrating the fine points of the game to those wishing to use the court. He is employed by one of the local textile concerns.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT SPEAKS

WILLIAMSTOWN, July 29.—"Never before has it been so clear," said Chief Justice William Howard Taft in opening the Institute of Politics this morning as honorary chairman of its first meeting, "that our prosperity is dependent upon our relations to other countries and the maintenance of those relations in a friendly state of mutual confidence and good wishes."

So he struck the keynote, supported in words very similar by President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university and Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston, in speeches which bring to birth an undertaking without precedent in the academic history of the United States.

SOMEbody's MONEY

Some patron of the municipal bath house yesterday afternoon or evening left a sum of money in one of the lockers there. It was recovered today by employees of the park department and will be returned to the owner at the park department office if proper identification is given.

Superior Court Chief Justice and Judge Testify in Behalf of District Attorney

TUFTS WANTED EXTRA SITTINGS

Justice Aiken Declares District Attorney Made Earnest Request for Further Sessions

Sought to Clear Congestion— Says Tufts Spoke to Him on Bail Situation

Tufts Questioned Concerning International Service Company of Lowell

BOSTON, July 29.—District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county, defending himself in the supreme court against charges of irregularities by Atty. Gen. Allen on which the latter has asked his removal had Chief Justice John A. Aiken and Judge Louis S. Cox, brother of Gov. Cox, both of the superior court, among the witnesses in his behalf today.

Chief Justice Aiken testifying that Mr. Tufts had pressed him for extra sittings of the court to clear the congestion of cases, said the district attorney's request for further sessions were earnest and frequent. After stating that the calendars in other districts also were crowded, Chief Justice Aiken was asked by counsel for Mr. Tufts:

"Where would you place Middlesex county?"

"In the activities of the district attorney first," he replied.

"Has Mr. Tufts conferred with you regarding the bail situation in his district?" the chief justice was asked.

"Yes, three or four times. He was dissatisfied with the management, on the part of the bail commissioners. The securities were inadequate."

Chief Justice Aiken said he asked Mr. Tufts not to press the matter of securing more sittings because he thought it would be corrected by the court itself.

Chief Justice Aiken said he had held very few criminal sittings in Cambridge and had had very little opportunity to observe Mr. Tufts.

"Have you observed any incidences of malfeasance or nonfeasance on the part of Mr. Tufts?"

"No."

Justice Cox called

Judge Cox who presided over sittings in Middlesex county from Aug. 1919, to July 1, 1920, said he had not always followed the recommendations of the district attorney, other recommendations coming from police and probation officers. He said it was the practice to take all facts that appeared in evidence and he could not say that he

Welcome Change in Atmospheric Conditions — 10 Deg. Better Than Yesterday

A temperature of 10 degrees lower than that recorded yesterday helped to make life a bit more bearable in Lowell today than it has been since last Sunday. At noon the thermometer was playing around the 32 mark, whereas yesterday it was flirting in the lower 30s. Last evening's brief storm cleared the air and today an overcast sky protected Lowellites from the direct rays of the sun that had been so intense during the five previous days.

However, with the drop in the temperature there seemed to come an increase in humidity. As a result the drop in temperature was not as

Predicts Milk at 10 Cents a Quart

BOSTON, July 29.—A retail price of 10 cents a quart instead of the 15 cents now paid for milk in Boston, was declared to be a possibility by the commission on necessities of life in its reply today to a request of the city council for information as to the milk situation. The commission said that the city of Boston by co-operating with the producers and distributors, could simplify the system of distribution so that the retail price could be materially reduced.

A Bank Man

We Knew and Respected said to us for 25 years ago.

"I never pay much attention to a man's assets. I must know about the man. If I find a man does not live cleanly, I will not lend to him. If I find he has ever lied, I will not lend. If he has a reputation for sharp practice, in belief that 'business is business,' I will not lend. If I find he leads a good life, is truthful and fair in his dealings, I will usually lend regardless of assets. A severely poor have a note unpaid. It will be paid with interest in the end. The important asset is Character, for that grows in strength, while Capital sometimes is lost."

After digesting the foregoing, help yourself to this: A man goes into a bank, a stranger. Being identified, he makes his wants known, and he wants a loan. He shows one or more savings Book Accounts in his own name; the entries tell the story of the man's living habits. Can you think of any stronger, more self-evident Certificate of Character than this? Then a Bank Pass Book? Such a man is never "turned down." It takes RESOLUTION to begin a Savings Account, especially if one is on the shady side of thirty. But it takes something more, it calls for to resist temptations and continually add to the account. Nevertheless it's the one way and the only way to establish oneself. If You, Reader, have no Bank Account four Day of Opportunity has arrived this very week, this very day at

HERE'S THE CROWN PRINCE OF MILLAN

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
WASHINGTON, July 29.—"Women, eastern or western, they're all the same."
Crown Prince Zaradechno will tell you so. Some day Zaradechno will rule the 10,000,000 people of Millan, a little principality in northeastern Egypt, where his father, Abou Hassan, is now sultan.
When Zaradechno mounts the throne his royal consort will be Miss Katherine Spiegel, famous Kentucky beauty, whom he recently married. Incidentally, Miss Spiegel probably will be the first American girl to occupy a throne.
"The wife, Kipling, it is he who says the east and the west, they never meet," the prince said. "May be the men, they never meet, but the women, ah!"
"Women in your country wear the short skirt, sometimes the bare knee. In my country they wear the veil. But that is the outside only. Inside the woman in the harem and your suffragette get under their skins and you find no difference."
"I love America and the American women. That's why I married one of them."

ABANDON PLANS FOR BRICK SCHOOL HOUSE

Plans for the erection of a brick school building for the local Greek community have been abandoned for the time being and a temporary wooden structure will be erected. This announcement was made today by President James Danas of the board of directors, who stated that the change of plans is due to the high cost of materials. He intimated, however, that as soon as prices of material are down to about normal, the original plans of the proposed building will be taken up and the work will be rushed along.

Members of the local Greek community have been planning to erect a modern school building for the past two years. The community owns a large tract of land in Broadway, Worthen and Dummer streets and, according to original plans, the proposed building when erected will be located in Worthen street and will extend as far as Broadway on one side and Dummer street on the other. Specifications for the new building were drawn and bids were called for, but the figures quoted by the contractors were so high that the directors of the community have decided to delay the construction until such time as the cost of materials is less prohibitive.

In the meantime, however, the needs of the children of the community have to be looked after. It is figured that there are more than 200 children who are unable to attend the parochial school because of lack of room, and at a recent joint meeting of the directors and school board of the community it was voted to erect a temporary wooden building for their accommodation. Plans for the new building, which will be two stories high and which will contain five rooms, have been drawn and contractors have been requested to submit bids. It is expected that the contract will be given out shortly and that work will be started in time to have the building erected for the opening of the fall term of the school next September.

Volstead Law Being Nullified

Continued.

Big Stocks of Liquor

"Millions of dollars' worth of liquors that have been seized in this state by federal officials are now held in storage," said Mr. White today. Large sums are being paid for the storage of the beverages which are constantly accumulating. There has not been a single condemnation proceeding for the forfeiture of the liquor brought since the Volstead act went into effect. The first case for disposing of the liquor is scheduled for a hearing in the motion session of the federal court next Tuesday.

"There are at the present time over 2000 condemnation cases on the court docket."

Over 900 Cases

"There are also over 900 cases charging violation of the liquor law now undisposed of before the court and practically every day brings additions to the list. A large part of these cases accumulated before I took office."

Mr. White admitted that with present court facilities it is practically impossible to dispose of the cases before the court. It would require months, he said, for the single federal judge allotted to the district to hear all of the cases. Before they could get before the judge a long time would be required to present the cases to the grand jury.

Pressed by Lawyers

According to Mr. White, attorneys representing clients charged with violation of the liquor law are continually pressing him to dispose of cases that have been on the docket in some instances for a year and a half. He is powerless to act because the court facilities are not sufficient to permit of a disposition of the cases.

According to Mr. White the single federal district judge allotted to Massachusetts is powerless to deal with the situation. Before the prohibitory law was enacted the Massachusetts district court had all of the cases it could satisfactorily handle. The addition of the vast number of cases charging violation of the Volstead act has literally submerged the court with the result that serious obstacles have been placed in the way of making the law effective.

One of the Largest

According to Mr. White, Massachusetts is one of the largest districts in the country. To it but a single judge is assigned, while much smaller districts in the south and west have two or three men on the bench. To relieve the situation somewhat circuit court judges of Maine and New Hampshire have drafted into service in the Boston court. The matter is further complicated by the fact, it is stated, that admiralty cases have precedence before United States courts, and these cases are frequently long-drawn-out affairs. To remedy existing conditions, Mr. White states, measures are being considered which will give the United States commissioners power to dispose of Volstead act cases brought before them by imposing a fine or prison sentence, subject to appeal to the district court. It is stated that it is probable that a large number of cases could be promptly disposed of if this power were conferred.

Speeding Up Justice

Another measure that has been suggested for speeding-up the mills of justice, and which is embodied in a bill introduced in congress by Congressman Walter of New Bedford, provides for the establishment of minor courts, similar to state police or district courts, to have first jurisdiction in cases arising under the prohibitory law, judgments rendered in such courts to be subject to review in the district court.

Mr. White said today that he had not been correctly quoted in the statement attributed to him that in the future all automobiles seized in connection with cases involving the illegal transportation of liquor would be returned to owners. He said that the seized autos would only be returned in cases where the owner was found not guilty by the court or where the case was dismissed for want of sufficient evidence to sustain the complaint.

SHE TELLS HOW TO SELL HOUSES

MISS NELL HLAIT

Ten years ago Miss Nell Hlatt started work as a file clerk in a real estate office at Lebanon, Ind.

Now Miss Hlatt owns the business and employs several men on her sales force.

Ask Miss Hlatt how she accounts for unusual progress and she'll tell you that it is because she selected a business for which woman is naturally adapted.

"Women do more living in the houses than men. They have a natural house love which men do not have. Thus when a man comes to me to buy a house I never try to sell him something just because I have that particular house to sell," says Miss Hlatt.

"I consider his family, its type. I try to meet his wife and consider her type. Then I know just about what kind of a house she would want and I don't spend a lot of time trying to sell her husband something she wouldn't let him buy and wouldn't be happy in."

"When I plan a house which is to be sold or rented, I plan it from a woman's viewpoint. When I instruct my salesmen, I tell them to play up those things about the house which would be of interest to a woman. For after all, women are the buyers of houses."

"And women as salesmen can talk house—if they can talk at all—much more enthusiastically than a man. And a sale is half made if the saleswoman approaches it enthusiastically."

LOWELL BARKEEPER GIVES HIMSELF UP

Information has been given out by federal authorities that a barkeeper charged with the illegal sale of liquor in a Bridge street saloon has surrendered himself to the federal authorities in Boston and has been held for a hearing before the United States commissioner. It is charged by federal officers that they purchased liquor in the saloon and that a glass containing it was knocked out of the hand of one of the officers by a man named O'Loughlin, who was placed under arrest on the charge of interfering with a federal officer. It is asserted by the authorities that the barkeeper made his escape at the time of the raid.

The woman was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance.

MUCH TIME DEVOTED TO BRIDGE HEARING

A long drawn out hearing during which there was testimony by engineering experts and at times sharp exchanges between counsel for the Engineering Service & Construction Co. of Boston and Prof. L. E. Moore, consulting engineer for the city on the Central bridge reconstruction job, took up more than an hour of the municipal council's time today. The hearing was held to straighten out several extra items charged by the company in its June bill which City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessy held up because of doubt as to their legality. Thomas J. Mahony, counsel for the construction firm, explained at length why the charges were proper, but the council refused to O. K. two of the items until they had been approved by City Engineer Kearney. It was agreed to approve the rest of the June bill, totaling $3,215.35, but to hold out $750.18 until the engineer had gone over the matter with representatives of the company and had given his approval for the payment.

The council called upon City Engineer Kearney, Assistant City Engineer Arthur W. Bartlett and Prof. L. E. Moore as its witnesses. William A. Driscoll of the construction company was present but did not testify, leaving the company's case in the hands of Attorney Mahony.

The latter emphasized the fact that the company had no intention of being unfair with the city nor did it wish to make charges for extras which were not proper. He said that his client did not solicit the extra work but had been requested to do it by the city engineer's department with the understanding that the company's commission for all extra work should be 15 per cent of the cost, the usual arrangement in contracts of this kind, he said.

As the hearing progressed it developed that the only two items which were in doubt were one of $350.18 for insurance and public liability and another of $400 for general superintendence. The city contended that these expenses should come out of the 15 per cent commission of the company and should not rightfully be separate extra charges.

Prof. Moore contended that these charges were not proper and on being questioned by Attorney Mahony, he flatly refused to answer hypothetical questions. He said he felt that nothing should be charged to extras except that which actually cost the company extra money.

Mr. Mahoney insisted that both the items in question were justified charges under the head of extras and it was finally voted to pay the bill minus these two charges with the understanding that they will be paid later if the company succeeds in convincing the city engineer and the city auditor that they should be paid.

Following the hearing on the bridge matter, the council approved a bill of $72 from Walter J. Nelson for the furnishing of films for the park department for July 26, 27 and 28.

The petition of Mary J. Turcotte for a gasoline license at 19 Wannalancit street was held over for a hearing Sept. 6.

FILE SUITS IN AUTO ACCIDENT CASE

Law suits aggregating $15,000 have been brought against residents of this city as a result of an automobile accident, which occurred a couple of weeks ago in Chelmsford street and in which George A. Frenette, a member of Battery B, lost his life. There are three separate cases, each in the sum of $5,000, the plaintiff in each case being Desirida Frenette, wife of deceased, and administratrix of his estate.

Two of the suits are against Charles W. Wells and Miriam Miller, while the third is against Louis Rahhal, otherwise known as Louis Rohall. The three cases are actions of tort and attachments have been filed at the local registry of deeds office.

It will be remembered that Frenette was killed on his way to Northampton, the automobile in which he was riding, with three other men, being operated by Louis Rahhal. It was claimed after the accident that the party were going to Northampton to attend a fair and were carrying with them tent poles, which were strapped on the side of the machine. It is alleged that the front end of the poles became loose, and fell to the ground, the machine swerving to the left. Rahhal claimed that Frenette grabbed the wheel and then jumped out of the car, landing on his head. The chauffeur then lost control of the car, which crashed into a pole. Frenette died from a fractured skull at St. John's hospital a few hours after the accident.

Other attachments filed at the registry of deeds office were as follows: Appleton National bank vs. Julia A. Cornock and George Cornock, two attachments of $5000 each in actions of contract; Stathoula Sokorell vs. Dionysius Sakellarios, action of tort, $25,000; Max L. Goldblatt of Winthrop vs. Bernard Jacobson, Boston, action of contract, $1000; Ellen F. Grimes, Charlestown, special administratrix for the estate of Bridget Fitzsimmons vs. Eleanor E. Hickey of this city, action of tort or contract, $5000.

KITTREDGE COUNCIL GOING TO REVERE

Members of Paul Kittredge Council A.A.R.I.R. met last evening at the residence of Mrs. Craven on East Merrimack street and arranged for the outing at Revere beach next Sunday. The members and their friends will take cars from Merrimack square at 8 a. m. Plans were completed for an enjoyable day at the beach. A brief entertainment followed the meeting and refreshments were served. The committee will provide special tickets to be had from the committee on the morning of the outing.

Tufts Case

was very much influenced by the district attorney.

Judge Cox was asked in detail about the disposition of certain cases which were mentioned in the attorney general's specifications. Some of these he remembered, others he was unable to recall. He said he had noticed no instances of malfeasance on the part of Mr. Tufts.

In cross-examination, Judge Cox said that in the case of Ernest W. Mantha of Marlboro, which was disposed of by him, the question was whether the onus of justice would be met by imposing a fine and not a sentence. The district attorney did not suggest that Mr. Chase of the Watch & Ward Society should be heard. Judge Cox said it was not brought to his attention that the children of Marlboro were being corrupted by the Mantha gaming place.

He said he thought it was the practice in Suffolk for assistant district attorneys to not pros cases without the authority of the district attorney. In Bristol and Barnstable, District Attorney Kenney attended to that himself. In Essex when he was there as district attorney the assistants did not not pros without the direction of the district attorney or the court.

Questioned on Lowell Case

District Attorney Tufts was examined and cross-examined concerning the International Service company, Lowell branch, during the morning session.

Tufts said that a Mr. Rogers of Lowell called his attention to the International activities. Mr. Tufts said that he requested a Lowell attorney, named O'Neill to investigate the charges.

Question: "Did you ask Capt. Gordon of Cambridge to see O'Neill and help push the investigation?"

Answer: "Yes, O'Neill told me that there were several companies operating in Lowell, and that one Sunday paper had been running stories about the Greene and other companies. In Lowell it was said that the International Service company gave the impression that it was a bank and that people could get their money out at any time. Capt. Gordon told me that he saw the International people in Boston and said that the interview was not satisfactory."

4-TUFTS

Question: "Do you remember Athans or any other member of the company coming to see you?"

Answer: "Yes, Athans, Levenson and others came to see me. Athans said they had not been violating the laws in Lowell, and that they did not intend to. I told them that my report intimated that they were posing as bankers. Athans said it was done without the officers' instructions."

Denies Shaking Fist

Question: "Did you shake your fist at these men?"

Answer: "No, I simply tapped with my pencil. I had no hostility toward them. I did not threaten them into employing Corcoran."

Question: "Did you say the Lowell matter would have to go to the grand jury?"

Answer: "No, because I had turned this matter over to Assistant Wagner."

Question: "After that did you have anything to do with the case?"

Answer: "None at all."

Question: "Did you ever have any conversation with Corcoran about this matter?"

Answer: "No."

Former Mrs. Stearns Testified

BOSTON, July 29.—Mrs. Helen Weaver Sewall, formerly the wife of Captain Charles Ephraim Stearns of the United States army, concerning whose divorce from Captain Stearns District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts was accused by Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of conspiring in the commission of a crime to afford grounds for Mrs. Stearns' divorce from Captain Stearns, declared in her deposition, read yesterday afternoon at the Tufts trial, that Mr. Tufts never proposed an "arrangement" to trap Captain Stearns.

Mrs. Sewall denied in toto all the sensational evidence given in the trial last week by Mrs. Anna Eastman Brown, which was to the effect that Tufts, in her presence, told Mrs. Sewall (then Mrs. Stearns) that the matter could be "arranged" and that

YOUNG GIRL TELLS STORY OF MALTREATMENT

Cases of maltreatment of young girls in the vicinity of public recreation places are becoming alarmingly frequent, according to police reports and statements made by persons interested in the welfare of children. In a crowded session of the juvenile court this morning, a girl 11 years old appeared and told a startling story of what had happened to her after she had been accosted by a stranger while she stood watching a merry-go-round. It developed during the hearing of the case that the mother of the girl is blind. Judge Pickman, in disposing of the case, made pointed references to the scoundrel who was responsible for the act.

Japan used to have laws deciding how its inhabitants could dress, and travel.

Sen. Gooding Assails Wool Schedule

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The wool schedule in the Fordney tariff bill was the special object of an attack by Senator Gooding, republican, of Idaho, in the senate yesterday. Mr. Gooding declared the old schedule K in the Payne-Aldrich act was "very commendable" as compared with the new wool schedule. "What schedule K did in an indirect way for the manufacturers, the wool schedule of the Fordney bill does directly," he said.

GIRL HIT BY AUTO ON DANGER LIST

Although some improvement has been noted in her condition, Antonina Martakos, the seven-year-old girl, who was struck by an automobile in Merrimack street yesterday forenoon, is reported as being in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital, where she was taken shortly after the accident. The girl was struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. M. M. Curtis of Manchester, N. H., when she ran from the sidewalk into the path of the machine. At first the doctors at the hospital were unable to determine whether or not the girl's skull was fractured, but an X-ray picture of the injury has shown that there is a fracture slightly above the left eye. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pavoulas Martakos, rear of 609 Market st.

REVIEW CASES OF 10,000

DISABLED VETERANS

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Review of the cases of some 10,000 war veterans rated permanently disabled was ordered yesterday by the war risk bureau as the result of a ruling by the comptroller of the treasury. It had been customary, bureau officials explained, to change the rating of a veteran from temporary to permanent disability after he had been six months in a hospital.

The comptroller's opinion, it was explained, requires that each case be judged on its individual merits, after medical examination. The loss of compensation to the veterans, officials said, would vary in different cases by a change in rating but could not be determined until after the review.

SAYS NORMAL BLOOD

WILL PREVENT DISEASE

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Normal blood, both in quantity and quality, will prevent the presence of disease, Dr. W. Curtis Brigham of Los Angeles, Cal., declared here today before the closing session of the 25th annual convention of the American Osteopathic association.

What are termed circulatory whirlpools in the child's body are caused by abnormal postures, Dr. Brigham explained. These circulatory whirlpools in addition to poison from improper diet and poor care of the teeth, cause chronic disease, and if they are properly cared for in early youth, many operations will be avoided with a saving estimated at $2,000,000,000 annually, he said.

Psychologically, the brain is the least important part of the body and the pituitary body, one of the ductless glands, is by far more important, Dr. Ernest E. Tucker of New York told the delegates. The mind is the action of the body rather than of the brain.

F. A. Corey of Hartland, Me., read a report of experiments. He stated vaccination has recently been found to transmit a mild degree of tuberculosis and venereal disease. This can be prevented, he declared, by exposure of the vaccine to blue and yellow light.

The alleged violation of professional ethics by Dr. H. L. Russell of Buffalo, in testifying in the Stillman divorce case, was up before the house of delegates of the association yesterday and a heated discussion ensued.

The New York Association of Osteopaths was ordered to make a thorough investigation and submit a report with recommendations to the national organization.

A telegram received from his attorney stated that Dr. Russell is on a vacation in Canada, but that he will welcome an investigation, "which will afford him an opportunity to defend himself against this unfounded criticism."

De Valera Looks Happy

Communication to Lloyd

George Favorable—Craig to Meet Sinn Fein Chief

LONDON, July 29.—A communication from Eamon de Valera was received by the government yesterday (Thursday), according to the London Times.

"The contents were not divulged," says the Times, but it was noticeable in government quarters that there was no abatement in the hopefulness lately apparent there."

Optimism in Dublin

DUBLIN, July 29. (By Associated Press).—An air of unusual optimism prevailed in Dublin yesterday. Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, had an informal meeting with some of his colleagues, after which it was confidently stated that a communication from Mr. De Valera to Premier Lloyd George might be expected soon upon the proposed basis of a conference.

It was also declared that another meeting between Mr. De Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, was imminent and that an acceptable solution of the financial difficulties had been found in the shape of Ireland's assuming a portion of the national war debt.

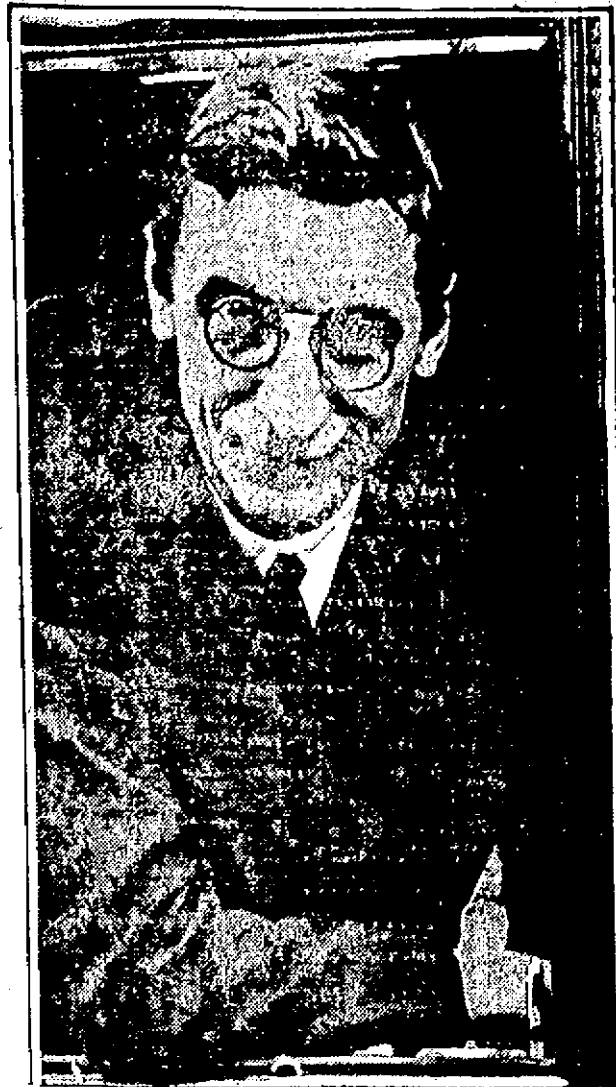

The Dublin Evening Herald understands that matters of tremendous import were discussed by the Dail Eireann cabinet Wednesday and that "the stage of discussions was passed and a fateful and happy decision reached."

The next move is likely to be the meeting in Ireland between the Ulster Premier and De Valera. It was somewhat difficult to arrange for this proposed meeting, but, according to the informant, "they have got over the fence."

The plan to assume a portion of the national debt, instead of paying a yearly contribution to the Imperial exchequer, which Sinn Feiners regard in the nature of tribute, is considered less objectionable, and would satisfy Lloyd George's contention that Ireland ought to pay something toward the cost of the war.

Letters received from the imprisoned Sinn Feiners indicate that there has been much improvement in their treatment since the truce.

Among the visitors to De Valera at the Mansion house yesterday was A. W. Cope, assistant under secretary in the office of the chief secretary for Ireland. It was he who signed the truce terms on behalf of the civil administration, and he has been one of the principal advocates of an amicable settlement.

This snapshot of De Valera, president of Sinn Fein, was made as he leaned from a taxicab window to acknowledge the cheers of friends.

British Embassy Calls Off

Dinner — Publisher Sees

Harding—Assails Premier

WASHINGTON, July 29.—"Good lord! And they talk about us having snub politics in America!"

This expresses the view of official Washington on the incident of the calling off of all official recognition of Lord Northcliffe by the British embassy as a sequel to his row with Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Curzon, the first manifestation of which was the barring of representatives of the Northcliffe newspapers from the confidences of the British officials.

There was to be a great dinner at the British embassy last night, to which all the members of the cabinet and various other distinguished citizens were bidden.

Lord Northcliffe was booked as the guest of the embassy and, according to precedent where a Britisher of his distinction was visiting this country, was to have lived there during his stay.

None of these things came off. According to one of the secretaries there was no dinner scheduled and no arrangement for the English publisher to be quartered at the embassy. However, a simple inquiry revealed that the cabinet members had all received the formal invitations and that subsequently an attaché of the British embassy had called around to tell them that the dinner was off.

The matter was partially straightened out at the embassy by the statement that there had been no question of instructions of London, but that anything that had been done was on the volition of the ambassador himself. This statement does credit to the sportsmanlike quality of Ambassador Geddes in assuming responsibility but is hardly convincing.

The first indication of anything untoward was the failure of the ambassador to present Lord Northcliffe to the president which would have been according to the diplomatic hoyle. However, it did not make much difference, as Northcliffe had a personal invitation to the White House and chatted with President Harding for an hour and a half. Later he put in half an hour with Sir Auckland Geddes—the two are personal friends—and today he is dining with pretty much the same guests as were bidden to the embassy at the home of Edward B. McLean.

Probably the best comment on the incident is that of Lord Northcliffe himself.

"The situation as I see it is quite amusing," said he. "But I do not wish to further involve my friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, who has behaved quite nicely in a difficult matter. My small staff and I were invited to stay at the British embassy and one or two dinners were to be given at which I was to meet members of the cabinet and some old senatorial friends."

"Shortly before leaving London my London Times ventured in modest terms to criticize our foreign secretary, Lord Curzon. I believe him to be a pompous and inefficient man and I said so, as I am entitled to do. I know he was among the politicians

LET'S GET AT THE TRUTH

Lowell Labor Will Be Employed

CAMOUFLAGE

"These men are trying to soften this nefarious proposition by saying that Lowell Labor will be employed as far as possible. This is a bluff, pure and simple, and nobody will have anything to say about the hiring of labor but the contractors, once they get their grip on Lowell Streets."

Sunday News, July 10th.

FACTS

"Such contract shall be entered into only after bids, therefore have been called for by public advertisement, and SHALL CONTAIN SUCH LEGAL PROVISIONS FOR THE EMPLOYMENT AS LABORERS OF PERSONS RESIDENT IN LOWELL AS THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL SHALL APPROVE."

Exact wording of the Initiative Petition, filed with the Municipal Council.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELVES

Read the above section of the Initiative Petition over very carefully and bear in mind that when this is accepted by a majority of the voters, on Tuesday, August 9th, it becomes a Law. Can you imagine a Municipal Council, elected by the voters of Lowell, who would dare to disobey this section of the Petition and do otherwise than to provide in every contract that Lowell Labor SHALL build the Streets of Lowell?

Does not that dispose for all time of that silly and senseless argument that "Outsiders" and "Imported Labor" will be employed?

Does it not go farther than that and firmly establish the fact that Lowell Streets SHALL be built only by Lowell Labor?

who are struggling to get to Washington to represent Great Britain at the presidential conference, and I know he is the wrong man to come.

"When Lord Curzon was viceroy of India his plan to stifle criticism, of which he is very much afraid, was to cut off official news and remove the names of the staff of any offending newspaper from the government entertainments at Calcutta.

"Well, my newspapers are not Indian newspapers and Washington is not Calcutta. The guests invited to the British embassy dinner to me have been politely notified by the embassy that the dinner is off. I have often dined at the embassy and while I regret that I shall not have the pleasure of visiting my friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, I am amply compensated by the fact that the same guests have been invited to meet me by the social leader of Washington, Mrs. Edward B. McLean, whom I know to be most charming.

"It is an amusing little sidelight on the undercurrents of the present British foreign minister, who, by the way, is not particularly fond of Americans."

"I am having a delightful visit to Washington, including an unforgettable hour and a half with the president."

AIR CHIEF SAYS

WARSHIP RULES

BY NORRIS QUINN
 WASHINGTON, July 29.—"If you tied Jack Dempsey's hands behind him, you could knock him out. But that wouldn't make you a heavyweight champion."

That's Captain William A. Moffett's slant on the recent airplane-vs.-battleship bombing experiments in which several former German vessels were sent to the bottom under a rain of aerial bombs.

Moffett has just been named chief of the aeronautical division of the United States navy and will be promoted to rear admiral. He is a recognized aviation authority and was an eye-witness of the bombing tests. He maintains:

"That the battleship or capital ship still is the determining factor in sea battles."

"That the airplane and submarine in their present stage of development are only aids to sea warfare."

"That land airplanes are effective in attacking battleships within 50 miles of the coast."

"That 'mother ships' carrying planes ready for flight will be a big factor in future naval battles."

"The sinking of the Ostfriesland (a former German vessel) by 1000 and 2000 pound bombs 60 miles from land was a performance that reflected great credit on the army air service," Captain Moffett said.

"The successful carrying out of this operation showed thorough preparation, energy and high morale."

Airplanes' Limit
 "We must be careful, however, not to make false deductions. Land planes can operate in the air only from four to four and one-half hours, so that their radius of action is comparatively small."

"This test emphasizes most strongly the need of airplane carriers to accompany the fleet, so that this comparatively new and powerful weapon can extend its power far to sea."

"With the fleet, the airplane can do its part in gaining and holding control of the sea—the factor that has settled all past wars and will settle all future ones."

"But the battleships at sea, like the infantry on land, determine the final result. Aviation is an auxiliary, like the submarine."

HERE ARE PICKLES YOU WANT FOR WINTER

By SISTER MARY

Pickles stimulate a lagging appetite. Strong elder vinegar should be used for pickling. Vinegar loses its strength when heated. It should come to the boiling point, but not be allowed to boil.

Alum is used to preserve the crispness of pickles. A lump about the size of a small nutmeg to a gallon of pickles is a good rule.

Home-made pickles will take the place of olives as a relish, and may be substituted for vinegar salad.

GHERKINS
 One hundred small cucumbers, 2 quarts boiling water, 1½ cups salt, 1 gallon vinegar, 2 sticks cinnamon, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard seed, 2 tablespoons cloves.

Wash pickles and wipe with a dry cloth. Put in a large, deep crock and pour over a brine made by dissolving the salt in boiling water. Let stand three days. Drain cucumbers from brine and heat brine. Bring to boiling point and pour over cucumbers. Let stand three days. Drain cucumbers from brine, put into alum water and let stand over night. Drain from alum water. Put vinegar, cucumbers and spices in preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Pack cucumbers in sterilized glass jars, pour over boiling vinegar and seal. The jars must be brimming full and the vinegar at boiling point.

CHUNK PICKLES
 Use large slicing cucumbers for these pickles. Soak in a strong brine for three days. Drain from brine and soak in clear water for three days. Simmer in weak vinegar for two hours. A small lump of alum should be added to the vinegar. Cut cucumbers in place convenient for serving. Put pickles in jar and pour over the following mixture:

One ounce stick cinnamon, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce whole allspice, 3 pounds brown sugar, 2 pints vinegar. Bring to boiling point and pour over cucumbers. Drain off vinegar and heat to boiling point three mornings. Cover with a big plate and keep in a dark, cool place.

SWEET PICKLES
 Wash small cucumbers and wipe with a cloth. Make a brine strong enough

PLEASE GO 'WAY AND LET ME SLEEP!

They say Thomas Edison sleeps only four hours a day, but the gentleman you see in this photograph is that very same Edison getting an extra nap at the camp of famous Americans in the Maryland mountains. Reading papers in the background are President Harding (right) and H. S. Firestone.

AMERICA'S MOST NOTED CAMPERS

BY E. M. THIERRY
IN CAMP, LICKING CREEK, PARKBANK, MD., July 22.—"Hey, folks," yelled Henry Ford, "come and camp!"

chefs cooked the dinner over wood fires and a portable gasoline stove on the bank of the creek.

A Jap butler, in a white jacket, served it under a big green tent, and the campers sat at a great round table—a collapsible table that can be taken apart in three minutes.

In the center was a second table, several inches above the main board, that revolved. So when President Harding asked H. S. Firestone, the host to pass the salt, Firestone just reached out and gave the inner table a whirl and it spun around gently and deposited the salt and pepper and chili sauce in front of the presidential plate.

That's the sort of all-the-comforts-of-home type of camp this is. There never was a camp just like it nor a distinguished company to compare.

There were present at dinner President Harding and Mrs. Harding, Mr. Mrs. Firestone, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Edison, Bishop W. S. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Firestone, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford, George Cristian, Jr., and Russell Firestone.

It was the first dinner served on the annual Ford-Edison-Firestone camping trip—with the president taking the place of the late John Burroughs. This is the first time women have accompanied the famous campers.

A caravan of automobiles and motor trucks brought the campers to the camping grounds, a spot 20 miles west of Hagerstown. In the caravan were more than 40 persons.

Locomotives and Packards brought the campers. There were several Fords, too. Two specially built trucks carry the kitchen and food. One truckload of food was brought from the Firestone farm in Ohio. The truck contained two refrigerators with several hundred pounds of meat, butter, eggs, milk and melons, and 100 dressed chickens.

Another truck is a "kitchen cabinet" on wheels. It contains everything a housewife has in her kitchen. The rear folds down into a table. One side drops down and deposits a gasoline range on the footboard.

The caravan carries 20 tents, 50 cots and scores of blankets. Every tent has a canvas floor. The entire camp, which is moving from place to place, can be packed up in 30 minutes.

Food? Here's the dinner menu: Broiled lamb chops, grilled ham, boiled potatoes, corn on the cob, hot biscuits, watermelon and coffee.

Ford declined to let the chefs and assistants do everything. He grabbed an axe and split up firewood. He also unpacked the knives and forks. Edison tried out his agility by swinging himself from a low hanging branch of a tree. Then he took a wash basin and went out and picked a basinful of mint.

"Now that I've got the mint, what am I going to do with it?" he demanded.

A big camp fire was built between the dining tent and the "Company Street" of small green tents, set up as living quarters for the guests.

Ford prepared charcoal smudges to drive away mosquitoes. Camp helpers wear regulation camp dress—flannel shirts, army breeches, heavy shoes and puttees. Not the guest campers, though. The women of the party, who are attended by a maid, were dressed in dainty frocks, silk stockings and high-heeled shoes.

FATALLY INJURED WHILE BATHING

While bathing in one of the holes in the so-called "stony" in the Merrimack river at a point near the Moody street bridge at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Wilfrid Marcotte, aged 14 years and 6 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Marcotte of 193 Hall street, struck his head against a sharp rock and sustained a fracture of the skull. The boy was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where he passed away shortly after midnight.

The accident was similar to that which occurred in the Pawtucket canal last Sunday, when Eugene Marcotte, aged 17 years and residing in Salem street, also received a fracture of the skull when his head struck against a rock. He also died shortly after the accident at the Lowell Corporation hospital. Although of the same name, the two boys were not related.

The victim of yesterday's accident leaves his parents and eight brothers, Eugene, Jr., William, Charles, Arthur, Adelard, Narcisse, Albert and Henri. His body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Alken street and subsequently to the home of his parents.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed!"—C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man."

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

REDUCE THOSE DANGEROUS SWOLLEN VEINS

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only causes enlarged or varicose veins and hunches to become normal, but also reduces galled, enlarged glands and wens.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore it is wonderful in its recovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once. Generous sample on receipt of 15 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y. Your druggist or Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

Mr. Hultman prepared the statement believing that a knowledge of the coal situation would be of interest and assistance to the Massachusetts mayors.

INSTITUTE OF POLITICS

Forum for Consideration of
International Problems
Opened at Williams College

WILLIAMSTOWN, June 29.—The Institute of Politics, a forum and a school for the consideration of international problems and relations, was opened at Williams College today. William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States supreme court, presided. Statesmen of high standing, among them Viscount Bryce, were present as members of its faculty. In the chairs as auditors and students were the executives or faculty members of many American colleges. It was a gathering unique of its kind, in what has been described as New England's most typical college town.

To determine the means by which international relations may be adjusted that the strength of each may be developed for the welfare of all was advanced as the fundamental object of the institute in the opening address of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college. To the foreign statesmen who are to lecture before the institute, President Garfield extended a welcome and an appreciation. Chief Justice Taft, Governor Channing H. Cox, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university and Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston were other speakers at the opening session.

Mayor Peters said that international relations have never been so unsettled and the foreign relations of no country require more study than those of the United States. To that study this meeting can make a great contribution, he added.

"Western civilization is staggering from the exertion of the successful defense of free government. Mutual aid today is essential to help the struggling nations in their problems. Constructive progress is impossible without the help of the United States. The relations of all the members of the civilized world must be studied; international stability must be maintained, and the people of the suffering nations helped to adjust themselves to the new conditions."

President Garfield in his address said: "We are passing from the old covenant to the new. 'Thou shalt not' is giving place to 'Thou shalt'. The maxim of equity applies as truly to nations as to individuals. Formerly it was indeed necessary that we should so use our own as not to do injury to the things of another. It was necessary that states avoid contact lest contact lead to conflict. The world was not then prepared to go farther. But henceforth we must add to the maxim this—And to use thine own as to enable others likewise to use that which is theirs. I conceive it to be the fundamental object of the Institute of Politics to seek until we have found the way by which international relations may be so adjusted that the strength of each may be developed for the welfare of all. But what is for the welfare of all, and by what means shall we seek the way? These are questions for which we hope here to find practical answers."

"We are advocates of no particular creed or cause, save only that truth and justice shall prevail among nations."

LAWRENCE FACES

ANOTHER TIE-UP

LAWRENCE, July 29.—Lawrence is threatened with another building workers' strike, following a conference between the master builders and the union leaders yesterday. The labor leaders desired to discuss wage scales, which the master builders refused to do, and the former returned from the meeting saying they would call special meetings of their respective unions tonight for a strike vote.

On April 1 last the men struck in opposition to a 15 per cent wage reduction. A truce was arranged by the state board of arbitration and conciliation on July 14, following which the workmen accepted the wage reduction with the understanding that a conference called for today would reopen the question.

About 3000 men of the allied crafts are affected. It was said, but it is not expected all will respond to a strike order.

ion is responsible for the defense of its own coasts.

FEDERAL TAX REVISION

At the request of President Harding, congress, or at least the senate, is to take up the question of tax revision in preference to the tariff as the more urgent of the two problems demanding settlement.

There are a great many people who wonder why this was not done in the first place, as it has since been amply demonstrated that the business of the country will be benefited to a greater extent by relief from the great burdens of taxation than by changes in the tariff.

It is astonishing to what an extent the taxation system has reduced the number of millionaires who pay an income tax. In 1916 there were 200 residents in the United States who paid taxes on $1,000,000 or more; but in 1919 the number had been reduced to 65. In 1915 only 437,035 individuals paid an income tax. In 1917, the number had increased to 3,472,000, and in 1919 a total of 5,327,750, there was a gain of 507,645 over that of the preceding year.

It is not to be supposed that as the number of moderate income taxpayers increased, the number having vast incomes suffered a corresponding decrease. Oh! no. They found the income tax ranging as high as $64.37 per cent, and to evade payment of this they invested their money in tax-exempt securities.

The millionaires have been compelled to pay a large share of the tax burdens and, therefore, they have put away their money in tax-exempt securities instead of putting it into business.

Remove these confiscatory surtaxes and the men of wealth will again use it freely in business enterprises. That is how tax revision will aid business.

No man cares to bother making money if the government steps in and takes two-thirds of the profits. But that is only one of many taxes the men of great wealth have to pay. If they are engaged in business, it is not surprising, therefore, that the millionaires have been hiding their money from the tax collector in tax-exempt securities. That is a legitimate transaction. The government wanted money and had to offer an inducement to get it. That explains why such opportunities were offered; but the government has found that this is a bad policy and it is now out to discourage the practice by states and municipalities. It injures business by offering capital an inducement to withdraw, and going further in the excess profits tax it puts a direct tax on production. The system is bad, it is conceived in a spirit of plunder, and can be excused only by the exigencies of war. But before this system be abolished, another must be devised to take its place. What will that be? Some say a sales tax that will avoid pyramiding and put the entire tax on the ultimate consumer. It is claimed by many that this will be the fairest kind of tax as the consumer has to pay the tax in the long run, however it is levied. He can pay it better if he has a chance to work at a fair rate of wages.

But the present system has so many defects that it will be very easy to improve it so as to make it helpful instead of hurtful to the industrial interests of the country. Another objectionable feature of the present taxation system is that despite its heavy charges, 25 cents of every dollar is spent on collection and chasing tax-dodgers. It is estimated that but 3 per cent of the sales tax would be used in meeting department expenses.

YOUR ROAD TO RICHES

Here's a man who, at 33, has worked himself up from stenographer to treasurer of the $100,000,000 company that supplies Chicago with gas. His name is George P. Mitchell.

What is it that has made Mitchell rise so rapidly to success while other men, who started on the same footing and with just as good chances, have stood still?

This question interests you, groping for the door to power and wealth. His answer is—ability, good workmanship, thoroughness to the last detail, and patient toil to acquire knowledge.

At 14, Mitchell went to work for a steel mill. Three years later, he was taking a business and stenographic course by day and paying his way by "carrying a spear" and shifting theater scenery at night.

He rose to success because he did every job well, no matter how humble, and because he constantly trained himself so that whenever something better came along he was prepared to handle it.

At 18, Carl Nyquist is handling $100,000,000 worth of property. He is vice-president of the Rock Island railroad, and one of the youngest railroad executives in America.

"Luck? There's no such thing," says he. "I started at 19 as a $15-a-week clerk. How to succeed? Here's my way:

"I made my work the most interesting and important thing in my life. I didn't change employers. I haven't taken a vacation in 15 years. And in 24 years I've missed only five days from my job. Make your work successful and your work will make you successful."

When John D. Rockefeller organized the Standard Oil company in 1870, he was only 31 years old.

Despite his youth, he already was a big success, with his first million dollars within reach. If not already in his pocket.

Fifteen years before that, when he was 16, Rockefeller was a clerk in a commission house on old Water street, Cleveland.

Today he is the richest man in the world. Thousands of reasons have been advanced to account for his success. The real one was voiced years ago by the people that employed him in his early youth: "He was the best clerk and bookkeeper we ever had."

The same was true of every job Rockefeller ever turned his hand to. If you doubt it, ask his competitors. It is not given to all of us to become Rockefelleres. Mitchells and Nyquists. But each of us can attain success to a satisfactory degree by observing three simple rules:

First: Do every job thoroughly as if it comes along.

Second: While making the immediate job a success, lay out a campaign for the future and prepare yourself to handle a better job when it comes.

Third: Save your money so you

THE COST OF PAVING

In the controversy over the cost of block paving done by the street department in 1920, conflicting statements are made by the chamber of commerce and the street commissioner.

In the absence of definite and detailed reports of cost and work done the chamber takes the total expenditure and yardage for such paving for last year and from this data computes the cost per square yard to be $13.34. On the other hand the commissioner states that the cost was fully disclosed and explained at the public hearing held some weeks ago when the cost of the Lawrence job was said to have been $3.54 per yard or $5.55 net, that is, without the so-called regulation charges. Now, therefore, it is the duty of the street commissioner to explain wherein the figures given out by the chamber are wrong, if at all.

The fact that the street department has published no report of receipts and expenditures and of work done for the past four years, leaves the public in the dark and very naturally those who try to get at the real cost take the total expenditure and the area paved as a basis of calculation of the cost per yard. If they err in their computation, then the commissioner should set them right by an official statement covering the whole subject in controversy. If that be not done, the figures given out by the other side are likely to be accepted as the most accurate that can be obtained. Yet the books and records of every department at city hall are supposed to be open to public inspection.

SEEN AND HEARD

Sometimes the fellow who takes most precaution in hot weather is first to succumb.

That old warning about alcoholic drinks in hot weather is hardly necessary nowadays.

The fellow who sleeps on the roof these hot nights has a great time—until the mosquitoes.

If you are without sin throw all the stones you want to, but examine your conscience before you start throwing.

Who remembers when a fellow could put his feet under the mahogany in the Dutch room and sip high ones while the revolving fan caressed his favored brow?

Parking the Boat

A large eyed boy on a ferry, standing on a post in the anxious embrace of his father, directed his gaze at the great auto trucks and automobiles that bounced on board. Just as the ferryboat was about to enter the slip on the New Jersey side the little man seized his father's ear and asked: "Now we're going into the garage, ain't we, popper?"—New York Evening Post.

Passing the Buck

At a dinner on one occasion a professor thought he would ask a colored cloak room attendant a few questions about his memory.

As the attendant handed him his hat he said, "How do you know this one is mine?"

"I don't know that, suh," was the answer.

"Then why do you give it to me?" queried the professor.

"Cause yo' gave it to me, suh,"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Ten Odd Years Ago

A salesmanlike looking inspector stopped over night at a small town Kansas hotel and was surprised to find a dirty roller towel in the washroom.

"Don't you know that it has been against the law for years to put up a roller towel in this state?"

"Sure, I know it," replied the proprietor, "but no ex post facto law goes in Kansas, and that towel was put up before the law was passed."—Topeka Capital.

A Partial Stranger

A man who used to tramp ties on a railroad section was summoned as a witness in an inquest. He had been cautioned that he must be very exact in his statements.

"Was the deceased a complete stranger?" asked the coroner.

After duly pondering the question, he replied: "He was what I should call a partial stranger."

"Either you knew him or you did not," said the coroner sternly. "There is no such thing as a partial stranger."

"Well," he answered, "I don't know how else to describe him. He was a one-legged man."—Union Pacific Bulletin.

Cigars 24 Apiece

"That house took $17,000 worth of cigars from me last year," said a cigar man who has been dealing with the big men in Wall Street for 10 years.

"It is astonishing how many high grade cigars some of the Wall street houses take, brands which the general public hardly ever hear of. The Olympian smokers are either dead or retired from the street, however. John Bates, who frequently gave me an order for 2000 prime cigars at $4 apiece to distribute among his friends, was one of my best clients. Charles Gates frequently duplicated my order. J. P. Morgan smoked specials at $2 each, a cigar so strong and full that one had to be a real man to tackle it. I remember showing one of these to Dan Reid, who smokes the best. He immediately wanted 1000, and although J. P. M. was not a client of mine, I got the 1000 cigars from a similar cigar from the special factory in Havana. Will rate of five cents for each. With rate of five cents for each, I remember 1000 cigars at $1 apiece, with the proviso that no advertisement of any kind should appear on the box or cigar. I assured her this would be all right and the order was addressed to Theodore Roosevelt, at the White House. The lady was a relative of the same name; Roosevelt usually smoked a 15-cent cigar."—Wall Street Journal.

Over the Hills

Over the hills is a vale somewhere, With leaf-hung aisles and contentment there.

We glimpse it afar through an opal haze As our feet fare toward it through tangled maze.

For some 'tis the future, for some the past, This refuge spot in the distance vast. But we view it alike, 'neath the star-pierced skies Or at birth of dawn; as the moonlight dials.

The picture stands out on life's crowded page And we see it in youth or in ripe old age. And gazing, enraptured, the fever stills While the soul looks up and the spirit thrills.

And out of its glory we gather here To borrow its theme for the work of the new.

And we drink new wine when the need so wills From the deep cool waters—over the hills.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)
Merrimack Square Theatre
Don't complain about the hot weather—step into the Merrimack Square theatre and forget it. Let yourself be carried away by many lands of romance and adventure and your mind taken from thinking continually about the weather. There's a program of more than ordinary merit being shown here today. Take for instance, the leading feature, "A Private Scandal," starring pretty and capable Miss May, a newcomer to the stage. This is an "entrancing" story, well acted and with a delightful setting. Bernard Durning in "Diane of Star Hollow" takes one to the land of the mountaineers. A gem was out of the "coolest spot in town," and there are 1000 seats at 10 cents.

A FIRELESS ALARM
Shortly after 10:30 o'clock last evening members of the fire department were called to the Card building in Market and Shattuck streets, where the automobile alarm was out of order. It took the firemen some time to put the mechanism in order again and their presence on the premises attracted a large crowd of spectators.

COB GOES FISHING

PRETTY SOON COB CAME SNEAKING ALONG

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, watched beside the Willow Tree pool, after Marty Mink had slid quietly into the muddy water. They hadn't forgotten that Cob Coon had also telephoned that he had an engagement with Blackie Bass at 9 o'clock that evening, and they wondered what had suddenly made Blackie Bass slip. But Sprinkle-Blow was suspicious, knowing Marty and Cob so well.

Pretty soon Cob came snooping along the lower branches of the willow tree and looked down. "Good!" said he. "Not only has Mr. Sprinkle-Blow made the water muddy, so that Blackie can't see me, but he has blown out the moon. All I have to do is to hang onto a low branch and reach down. I know exactly where Mr. Bass Fish is, but he can't see me."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I have been told that a very great number of Lowell young women who will at some time take the examination to become teachers in the local public schools would greatly appreciate action on the part of the school committee which would set the date of the annual examination much earlier in the year than the month of June. Under the present regulations the examination is held just at the period of the year when the candidates for positions have either just completed their year's work of probationary teaching outside of the city or have been out of Normal school but a few days. Nine times out of ten examination day is scorchingly hot and the candidates are both mentally and physically tired. But the most cogent reason for the desire for a change in date is the fact that it is usually late in July before the candidates know whether they were successful and whether they are to teach in Lowell the coming September or go out of town. There seems to be no good reason why the examination could not be held in the winter or early spring, say on a Saturday of some vacation period. I understand that this change in question is favored and has been suggested by a prominent official of the local school department but up to date no school committee has seen fit to take the necessary action to legalize the change.

My young friend Archibald, who is addicted to modern dancing, runs breathlessly to me to inform me that there is a corking new dance step, but which is called "scandal." It is anything like its name it certainly must be a "corker." He tells me that it is a combination of the "toddle" and the tabbed "camel walk," combining as he says "the best points of each with none of the objectionable features of either. He even went so far as to illustrate it for my benefit. With left arm held high in the air and right arm encircling an imaginary partner, he glided round and round my office stretching his legs in great strides and shaking his shoulders in unison. At the beginning of each step, his whole body would sink slightly and at the end of the step would come the "shoulder quiver." I didn't mind scold him, but smiling told him that it was indeed a "corker" and he went happily away to Lakewood to practice the new step. He is young yet and I have hopes that he will get over it in the course of time.

France is having a hard time keeping ahead of America. She is kicking about no-piece bathing suits.

YOU may write me from the mountains or the sea
You may rave about the lisp and croquet,
You may sing a song of unrestricted glee
As you chronicle your happiness at play;
You may tell me all about the fun I miss
In the cards and in the letters you indite;
I can stand it if you'll only spare me this—
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

I'VE no doubt you've found a most enchanting spot
Where the swimming and the motoring are fine;
I'll admit the city's furiously hot
(I am getting too much fahrenheit in mine);
You may write to me of matters such as these
And I'll take them very calmly, but I'll fight
If you spill the superannuated wheeze,
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

WHEN I'm gasping in an oven of a room,
When I'm toasting on a mattress filled with fire,
It does not at all alleviate my gloom
As I cast away each vestige of attire,
To be told of gentle winds and chilly airs,
So I warn you to be careful what you write,
For I'm gonna kill the lollipop who declares
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

Army Aviators Forbidden To Do Stunts

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Army aviators are forbidden to make spectacular flights or do "acrobatic flying" over cities or other populous districts in general orders announced today. "Planes will be so flown," the orders said, "that their lines of flight and altitude will be such that a glide with dead motor can be made to a safe landing without danger to persons or property on the ground."

Farmers Abandon Tobacco Growing

WINDSOR, Ont., July 29.—Abandoning tobacco growing because of greatly decreased prices, many Essex county farmers have planted their fields to potatoes, which are resulting in larger profits than ever were derived from tobacco. Quality of the potato crop is reported the best in years.

PICK UP

Shower Last Evening

Lowell people found a little relief from the heat early last evening when this city got the tail-end of a storm that pelted down with considerable ferocity in the upper Merrimack valley but seemed to lose its strength when it reached Nashua. At 5:30 a smart shower fell here accompanied by a few rumbles of thunder but the bulk of the storm seemed to have passed on to Lawrence.

Before 7 o'clock the rain had stopped here and half an hour later the downtown streets were as dry as ever. However, the shower had the effect of cooling the air for a time at least and the thermometer went down into the 70s as the night wore on. The stars came out and many people got their first good night's rest since Sunday. Heat lightning played over the sky during the great part of the evening before all the clouds were finally dispersed.

Late yesterday afternoon the Broadway Social & Athletic club treated the children of the Acre district to improved shower baths that were more than appreciated. Several sprinklers and two lines of hose were brought into play and any kiddie who came within hailing distance was given a cooling bath. There were bathing suits of every description and variety in the crowd, some abbreviated and some of more than usual length, but all of them "got by" without the sensibility of a complaint. Later the children were treated to ice cream cones and lemonade.

The committee in charge included
President William Welch, Joseph

President Replies To Cong. Byrnes' Denial

had exaggerated pellagra and famine conditions in the south, President Harding declared in a letter to Representative Byrnes of South Carolina investigation of the situation would go forward. The president wrote in response to a letter in which Mr. Byrnes had characterized any belief that plague or famine existed in South Carolina as "an utter absurdity."

HOPEFUL FEELING IN DUBLIN TODAY

DUBLIN, July 28. (By the Associated Press.)—A more hopeful feeling prevailed here today concerning a solution of the Irish problem and the belligerent was expressed that, although the path to peace might be longer than at first expected, a settlement eventually would be reached. Meantime, the truce will be continued.

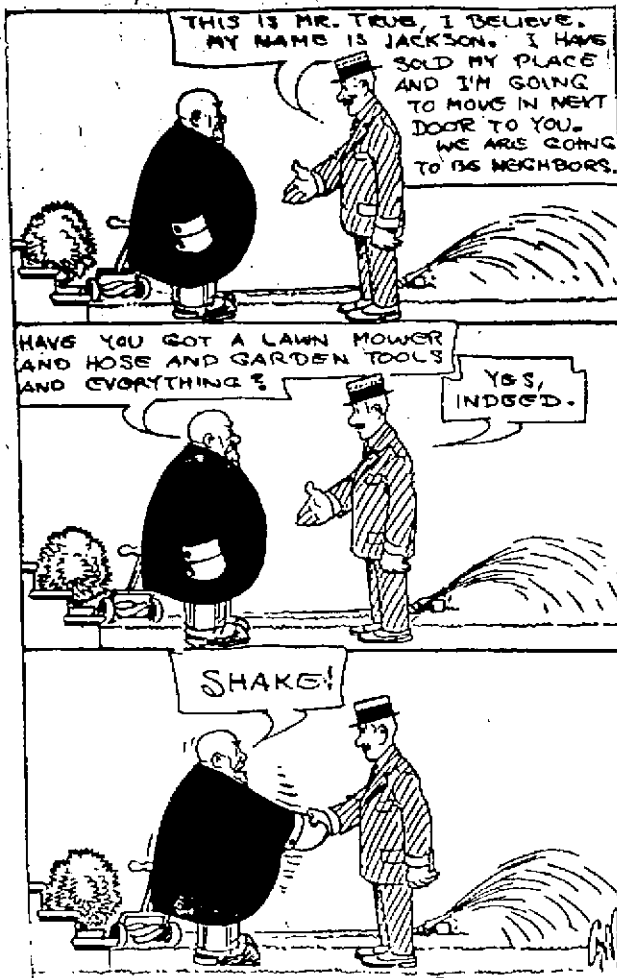

De Valera has not as yet sent an answer to Lloyd George regarding the government for the release of members to the present official circles have no better means of knowing what the answer will be than has anyone else. It was authoritatively stated that De Valera has not made application to the government for the release of members of the Irish republican parliament who are in prison, and that, although their release would be granted on his request, it would not occur without it. There is no immediate intention of summoning the republican parliament, it is learned.

WHITE SOX PROFITS

Team Made $409,337 in Six Years, According to Figures Presented in Court

CHICAGO, July 28.—The financial secrets of the Chicago American League baseball club always guarded zealously, were revealed in the baseball trial today, the club's books showing a net profit of $409,337 during the past six years, more than $225,000 of this coming in 1920 alone.

Harry Grabner, secretary of the club, brought the records into court at the request of the defense, which wanted to prove by them that the alleged sell-out of the White Sox players in the 1919 world's series had not injured the club.

The figures showed gross receipts of $2,522,558 for the six years. In only one year was there a loss—1918, when the war cut the season short. The deficit then was $51,673.

Grabner's testimony also showed the tremendous expense of a major league club, ranging from more than $225,000 in 1915 to nearly $700,000 in 1920.

LONDON, July 28.—(By the Associated Press.) The date for the official termination of the war, except as regards Turkey, will be Sept. 1, Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons today.

PREMIERS CONFER ON NEW FRENCH NOTE

LONDON, July 28 (by the Associated Press).—The latest French communication insisting that more troops be sent into upper Silesia immediately, which came as something of a surprise to official circles in London, is understood to have been the subject of an important conference in the official residence of Premier Lloyd George in Downing street, this morning, at which Lloyd George, the dominion premiers and several members of the cabinet were present. It was stated in political quarters that the insistence of France had caused some anxiety in Downing street, and hope was expressed that today's conference would solve the difficulty.

After the meeting it was announced that Lord Curzon, the foreign minister, would see the St. Austere, the French ambassador, this afternoon and that the meeting of the allied supreme council again might be somewhat delayed.

As a result of Lord Curzon's meeting with De St. Austere, it is understood Lord Curzon will send a reply to Premier Briand, reaffirming the view that the situation in upper Silesia does not justify the sending of more troops at the moment and urging the desirability of a meeting of the supreme council at an early date to deal with the report of the allied commissioners in Silesia.

The French government, in the communication handed Lord Curzon by De St. Austere last night, said it deemed it impossible to decide on a meeting of the allied supreme council until the question of sending reinforcements into upper Silesia had been decided.

PARIS, July 28 (by the Associated Press).—The British, French and Italian experts designated to draw up a supplementary report on the upper Silesian situation held their first session here this afternoon.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX
MELBOURNE, July 28 (by the Associated Press).—The Australian government has decided not to interfere with the landing of Archbishop Mannix on his return from his around-the-world trip, or to insist on his taking the oath of allegiance, it was announced today.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Cuban Sugar commission at a meeting here today fixed the new price of its raw sugar at 3 1/2 cents cost and freight, an advance of 1-4 cent.

NEW ENGLAND SWEEP BY SPENT FORTUNE IN SEVERE STORM

BOSTON, July 29.—Thunder storms broke the heat wave throughout New England last night, lightning hitting barns, churches and other prominent structures, burning many of them. Trees were leveled everywhere in the path of the storms, which were always marked by a few minutes of titanic energy, during which most of the damage was done.

There was a singular absence of fatalities, one man killed at Buxton's Island, Me., near Freeport, being the only death reported. The area hardest hit extended from Pittsfield, Conn., to Newburyport, N. H., and down New Hampshire and Maine.

SALISBURY BEACH COTTAGES WRECKED

BOSTON, July 29.—Williamstown, long known as "The Village Beautiful," because of its beautiful, historic trees, was a scene of devastation and ruin last evening. A veritable hurricane, accompanied by a severe thunder storm, swept down upon the town shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and in a few minutes had strewn it with wreckage.

Upwards of 100 trees, many of them giants of the forest, were uprooted and blown across the highway or against the roofs of nearby dwellings. One large tree fell across a sedan automobile and a heavily loaded truck, crushing them as if they were paper.

Both sides of Main street, for almost a mile, were almost denuded of trees. Traffic was blocked for more than an hour and last evening scores of men were busy with axes and saws clearing the highway. Several small outbuildings were blown down and roofs torn from houses by the high wind.

A deluge of rain, accompanying the wind storm, badly damaged many gardens and flattened many fields of corn in the vicinity of the town. Streets and sewers were flooded and telephone and telegraph lines put out of commission for some time.

The United States lighthouse tender Mayflower waged a terrific battle against the hurricane before putting into the harbor last evening, badly damaged and with members of the crew completely exhausted.

The craft was in the harbor working on the buoy and was passing the Black Rocks when the storm broke. She immediately attempted to put back into Newburyport harbor, but lost her bearings and finally, seeing the buoy that the Newburyport bar, circled about until after the storm.

She put into the harbor later with her canvas gone and badly battered. The captain reported that while passing Black Rocks he saw two large cottages on the Salisbury beach end of the bar blown into the ocean by the terrific wind, which, he said, was blowing at the rate of 90 miles an hour.

Worst Storm In Years
NEWBURYPORT, July 29.—A terrific electrical storm, accompanied by wind that blew with hurricane force and a heavy downpour swept this city just before last evening. It was the worst disturbance experienced here in recent years.

Shade trees were uprooted in all parts of the city and sent crashing to the ground, in many instances carrying telephone and electric light wires with them. Several streets were closed to travel on account of dangerous live wires and tree barricades. All the streets having shade trees are strewn with branches. A number of chimneys were blown down.

The power used by the cars of the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway was shut off as the storm broke and cars were stalled on all lines. When the storm passed the cars could not move on several lines until tree obstructions were removed. All the forces of the electric light, telephone and railway companies, as well as the tree warden's department, were put to work.

Mrs. St. Pierre Lost Hope of Recovery But Is Like New Woman Now

Now

"It was one of the most blessed days in all my life when I got Tanlac," said Mrs. Mary St. Pierre, 2008 South Main st., Fall River, Mass., "for I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good the medicine has done me."

"For the past ten years I suffered from indigestion so bad the slightest food would give me any kind of trouble. I was unable to retain anything on my stomach. The pains were as sharp as knives and words just can't explain what I endured for many years. For the longest time I scarcely ate anything, often going for several days without a bite, and just suffered right on. I could scarcely sleep any more, was tired and irritable and the least bit of housework would tire me out completely. I spent a small fortune trying to find my health back, but always met with disappointing results. Finally I lost hope, and thought there was nothing I could do but wait the day when it would all be over with."

"About two months ago, however, I saw a testimonial in the paper which impressed me so much that I sent right down to the drug store and got me a bottle of Tanlac. Well, I hadn't been taking it but about three days when I noticed it was helping me, and I knew then that I had found the right medicine for my case. I've taken four bottles now, and am a well woman. My appetite is simply ravenous, and no matter what or how much I eat, everything goes down with me. I feel like a child every night, and can do my housework in half the time it used to take me. I can go out with my daughters to school, to social gatherings and enjoy myself better than I have in years. Tanlac certainly has proved a blessing to me. I can't praise it enough."

During the storm lightning struck a house at Millville, Mass., and prostrated a father and four-year-old son, who were asleep in bed. The child is said to be in a critical condition. The house was practically destroyed by fire which followed. Woonsocket is still appearing to be in the storm here as they third of the night, two having passed around the city earlier in the evening.

SENATOR NORRIS COLLAPSED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, suffered a partial collapse in the senate yesterday at the close of an address of nearly three hours. The effort combined with intense heat exhausted him and he was taken to an adjoining committee room where first aid remedies were applied by Senator Ball of Delaware, a physician, who said Mr. Norris' condition was not believed to be serious.

Later Senator Norris was taken to his home and last night it was said he was much improved and out of danger.

Tufts Case

an attractive woman could be secured who would go to Fort Monroe Va., and the acquaintance of Captain Stearns and induce him into a compromising position in which detectives would catch him.

Mrs. Sewall denied that Tufts even suggested to her that she engage Dudley H. Coakley as her attorney in the matter, stating that Tufts, after examining the letters that she thought gave her cause for divorce action, stated simply that because of his official position as district attorney, he felt that he could not have anything to do with the matter, and that from that time up to now she has never seen Mr. Tufts, communicated with him or heard from him in any way.

Mrs. Sewall reviewed in detail her two interviews with Tufts, the first of which she said was alone at his Waltham office in April, 1918. She said that at that time she submitted to him a number of letters that had come into her possession, letters written by a Miss Jennie Penn of Waltham, whom she knew as a member of the same church she attended and as a stenographer.

References to White Kid Gloves
She said that she knew that Miss Penn was acquainted, even more than acquainted, with her husband. She also showed him, she said, a picture of Miss Penn which she found on the captain's desk at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., the letter being found by her in his effects at Fort Monroe. In the letter she said there was a pair of white kid gloves and a white sachet rossette and that the letter contained references to the kid gloves and the rossette.

At this point in the reading of the deposition, Special Assistant Attorney General Hurlbut objected to the presentation of what he called "further slush," but Attorney Fletcher Ranney, who with Mr. Hurlbut obtained the deposition, contended that it was important to the defence inasmuch as it tended to show that Miss Penn and the "Miss Pennington" with whom Captain Stearns was alleged to have been caught in a raid in Cambridge in June, 1918, were one and the same person, and that it tended to disprove the charges of the attorney-general that Tufts was involved in a conspiracy to "frame up" Captain Stearns. On that basis it was ruled admissible as evidence.

The various statements made by Mrs. Brown that Tufts said he had in his employ or knew of people who would arrange the matter for Mrs. Stearns and that she would hear from him later were denied in succession. She said that her reason for going to Mr. Tufts in the first place was because she knew him and was acquainted with his wife and had a high regard for his judgment and integrity.

She said that Mr. Coakley was suggested to her by another friend, and that she told Tufts that she was informed he was an able lawyer. She said that Mr. Tufts agreed that that was so.

Then she told of the visit to Coakley and of his agreeing to take the case with the understanding that his fee would be a third of any settlement made by Captain Stearns.

She said she then went away and that subsequently she received a telegram from Coakley and, returning to Boston, learned that her husband had been followed and caught in the Cambridge raid.

Mrs. Abrams' Deposition
The reading of the cross-examination by Attorney Hurlbut was unfinished at the adjournment of court, but that she told Tufts that she was informed he was an able lawyer. She said that Mr. Tufts agreed that that was so.

A deposition by Mrs. Florence Abrams, wife of Hiram Abrams, one of the moving picture magnates captured in the Minkewum Minor revel on March 8, 1917, was produced in evidence. Her deposition related chiefly to the receipt by her of a clipping from the Boston Post telling about the Minkewum Minor revel and mentioning her husband's name as being one of the moving picture men there.

Attention of this clipping was made earlier in the trial, it being contended that it was a part of the plot to extort money from the moving picture men, the state taking the position that it will show that one of the lawyers connected with the alleged conspiracy sent it to Mrs. Abrams.

Attorney Hurlbut said that some evidence in this regard has been introduced and that "more will be." Attorney Hurlbut called attention of the court to the fact that Attorney Joseph M. Levenson had admitted that the writing on the envelope containing the clipping looked "something like" his.

The state put in a deposition obtained from Attorney Charles Connor of New York, formerly connected with the office of Whipple, Sears & Ogden, this deposition concerning the James B. Munroe case. Connor told of interviews with Tufts and of being assured that Tufts would not proceed against Munroe without consulting him.

He said that despite that agreement Tufts had Munroe indicted and caused a writ for his arrest to be issued and that he regarded it as a direct violation of his agreement. He said that he immediately called Tufts up and told him he felt that he had broken his agreement, that Tufts was angry, and after that he was unable to reach the district attorney, always being told he was busy or out.

He said that when the case came up he asked the presiding justice to impound the papers and that Tufts strenuously objected, stating that because a man had money no exceptions should be made. The judge, however, impounded the papers, he said.

Saw Coakley Paid $12,500
At that time he said Coakley was retained as associate counsel and that Coakley stated that in such cases he usually asked a fee of $25,000, but that owing to the fact that he was friendly with Mr. Whipple (Sherman L. Whipple) he would split his charge and handle it for $12,500. He modified that somewhat in the same interview, saying he was willing to make a charge of $10,000 for services and $2,500 for "miscellaneous."

The indictment was not pressed about a month after Coakley came in to the case, and he saw Coakley paid by check by his client $12,500 and some odd dollars. In reply to a question given him by his client, Munroe, he said he withheld certain information given him by his client, Munroe.

Brother Of "Laddie Boy" In Court

DENVER, Colo., July 29.—"Dickey Boy," brother of "Laddie Boy," President Harding's Airedale dog, was a defendant in police court yesterday on a charge of killing chickens. "Dickey Boy" is owned by Albert R. Lowrie, a wealthy Denver broker, and dog fancier. Mr. Lowrie offered to pay for all the chickens killed if evidence of their death was produced. Evidence not being conclusive, Judge Rice took the case under advisement.

"You don't think a dog with a brother in the White House would stoop to chasing chickens, do you?" Mr. Lowrie asked the judge. "Well, I shouldn't think so," the judge replied.

"Capitol No Longer Chicken Roost"

MADISON, Wis., July 29.—The pigeons of the capital park here are doomed to extinction following decision of the superintendent of public property that they must be done away with in order to further the economy program. Hundreds of the birds known by people of the state as pets, are to be killed in a campaign started today. Expert riflemen posted in the Capitol building already have brought down a large number.

"It is costing the state hundreds of dollars to keep these creatures," Superintendent Morris said. "We can't have the Capitol a chicken roost."

Agree On Packer Regulation Bill

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Agreement has been reached by conferees on the packer regulation bill, which was passed by the senate several weeks ago and since has been in conference for compromise of differences. The senate conferees were said to have receded from their amendment to compel uniform bookkeeping by the packers, but other details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Spoke Throws Mean Rope

TRIS SPEAKER SPINNING HIS LARIAT

BY DEAN SNYDER

Everybody knows a lot about Tris Speaker, the ball player, but they know little about Spoke, the cowboy. The tall Texan wields a mean ball bat—also he throws a mean rope. All Texans do—that is the real fellow who grew up in the longhorn cattle districts. Hubbard City, Spoke's home town, is a cattle town. The natural dress down there consists of a pair of boots, chaps, bandana handkerchief, a colored shirt, a tall hat and a lariat. Spoke owns a ranch near Hubbard and he has it well stocked with future hot roasts and porterhouse steaks. He used to work on a ranch before he got into baseball. Each fall and winter he goes back to his rope and his saddle. "I'm not the best roper in the world," says Spoke, "but it's a lot of fun." At the Fort Worth rodeo last fall 1 roped and tied a couple of steers in 34 seconds each. "That's considered fair time unless you are in the business all the time." Recently Spoke competed in a roping contest at a wild west show in Cleveland. He didn't win any prizes. But he tried. His time was a little over a minute for roping and tying a calf. The crowd gave him about 99 per cent. of the cheering just the same. For Spoke is the popular idol since he won the pennant for Boston Cleveland.

Southpaw Roper

Spoke does everything left-handed in baseball, and he is a southpaw roper. He owns the gayest saddle, bridle and chaps that were ever made from leather. His boyhood friends from Hubbard City presented them to him last fall after he led the Indians to win the pennant for Boston Cleveland. And as one of the cowpunchers remarked: "Spoke don't fit in up here in the city. He belongs down in the steer country." But Spoke won't go back to cattle roping when he's through with baseball. He's got the bug for contracting work. Jim Dunn, contractor and owner of the Indians, plans to start Spoke off in this business. "I'll never be a bench manager," Tris says.

A. E. F. Wrestling Champ Killed

ABILENE, Tex., July 29.—John Chadwick, who claimed the light heavyweight wrestling championship of the A. E. F. in France, during the war, was shot and killed in front of a theatre at Merkel, his home, near here, last night. Dave Bensley and Bob Bensley, brothers, were taken into custody.

Marshall Field May Buy Stable

CHICAGO, July 29.—A published report that Marshall Field is to take over the racing establishment of Sir Ernest Cassel, at Newmarket, England, at the close of the present racing season, brought expressions of doubt from Mr. Field's associates here today. They said Mr. Field was in England and that he would not undertake the game to the extent required by ownership of one of England's largest stables. Sir Ernest Cassel, an intimate friend of King Edward VII, has been prominent in English racing circles for many years, it was explained.

The weekly swimming races held at Lakeview yesterday afternoon brought out another large field of contestants. The races this week were confined to girls and the winners were Miss Alice O'Brien and Miss Mary Lambert. There were eight entrants. Among those present at yesterday's races were Frank Higgins, who claims the championship of the city, and his manager, Frank Murphy. It was announced that arrangements are under way for a race between Higgins and Michael Rynne.

BRITISH REPLY TO FRANCE

Note on Upper Silesian Question Delivered by French Foreign Office

Said to be Friendly in "Marked Contrast to Attitude Displayed in French Note"

PARIS, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Great Britain's reply to the latest French note on the Upper Silesian question was delivered at the foreign office this morning by Lord Hardinge, the British ambassador. An hour's conversation between Lord Hardinge and Premier Briand ensued. The note will be considered at a cabinet meeting called for 3.30 p. m.

Britain Denies Charge LONDON, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Great Britain's note to France regarding the Silesian problem, dispatched last night and delivered in Paris this morning, recapitulates the circumstances which led to the present situation and refutes the allegation that Great Britain had set herself against the French and was thereby strengthening the German attitude.

Officials describe the note as of a friendly character, in marked contrast to the attitude displayed in the French note to which it is a reply. Great Britain, officials declared, is still anxious to consider any means by which the French can be met, but it is emphasized that according to the news being received in London there is no danger threatening the French troops in Silesia which renders the sending of reinforcements urgently necessary as the French have claimed.

The note calls attention to what is described as "the extraordinary action on the part of France" in endeavoring to act independently of the supreme council in insisting upon the immediate despatch of troops. It points out that this is an impossible basis upon which to pursue any future policy together, and that no good purpose "would fall to believe" that the sons until there was a clear understanding of France's intentions.

REBUTAL WITNESSES IN BASEBALL TRIAL

CHICAGO, July 29.—The baseball trial resumed today with the state preparing a hasty list of rebuttal witnesses after the sudden move of the defense yesterday in resting its case with nearly a score of witnesses yet to be examined.

State's attorneys intimated that several witnesses could be called today, these probably including Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis ballplayer who was not used by the state in its direct examination.

The surprise action of the defense, which followed testimony of White Sox players that tended to refute the statements of Bill Burns, the star state's witness concerning the former Sox players on trial for conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series, left future action on both sides a matter of conjecture but seemed to assure a speedy ending of the trial with the case probably going to the jury Saturday night or Monday.

The state was expected today to make an effort to refute the testimony of White Sox players that all the Sox, including the defendants, practiced for two hours in the Cincinnati park this morning of the first game when Burns testified he met some of the defendants at a room in the Sinton hotel.

The state also was expected to try to show that the conference could have been prior to the practice at the park. The state's rebuttal testimony was expected to take up most of today.

A blind man, Henry Fawcett, introduced the parcels post system in England in 1880.

ONLY HADES HOTTER THAN SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, July 29.—Springfield was one of the hottest places this side of the hottest place yesterday, the mercury rising up to the century mark in many sections of the city. It was so warm that when a bale of cotton waste fell off a truck in State street at noon near Winchester square and struck the hot pavement it burst into flames. The fire department was called out to quench the fire. Persons who saw the incident claim the bale struck one edge of a trolley rail which was hot enough to burn the soles off a person's shoes.

TUFTS QUESTIONED ON LOWELL CASE

Public Tennis Court Provided By the City a Novelty in Local Municipal Recreation

NEW TENNIS COURT AT SHEDD PARK

Lowell's first public tennis court has been opened at Shedd park near the junction of Rogers and Boylston streets and although it has been ready for use only a few days, scores of young people have already taken advantage of it.

The court was built by employees of the park department and is of regulation size with a clay surface and proper netting. The park department plans to establish similar courts in other sections of the city as its finances allow. In many New England cities the tennis courts are one of the most popular features of the municipal recreation activities and although the game has not as yet gained great headway here because of lack of proper facilities, it is believed that it will gradually gain a foothold when the general public becomes aware of the beneficial exercise to be derived from the sport.

The park department has not yet drawn up any set program of rules and regulations to govern the use of the court but if the demand warrants it, the same system that is used in allotting baseball diamonds on the public parks will be put into effect; that is application will have to be made in advance for its use.

However, one rule which will be carefully and rigidly enforced, is that nobody who wishes to use the court will be allowed to wear shoes with heels. The heels make an impression in the clay and these later develop into ridges that make the playing surface most uncomfortable. Tennis shoes or sneakers should be worn. Supt. John W. Kennan of the park department says, "Players will have to furnish their own ball and racquet for the present, at least, he says.

It will be recalled that the park commission first planned to establish the tennis court in Fort Hill park in front of Rogers Hall school but the protest was so great that Shedd park was resorted to. The latter park has not yet been developed but the location of the tennis court has been planned to dovetail with the general development scheme which the department hopes eventually to carry out here.

Stimulation of interest in the new court has been given children of that section of the city by Frank Gleason of 44 Boylston street, a college man, who was formerly the tennis champion of Putnam, Conn. Mr. Gleason is an ardent tennis enthusiast and during the past few evenings he has spent hours demonstrating the fine points of the game to those wishing to use the court. He is employed by one of the local textile concerns.

Sought to Clear Congestion—

Bail Situation

Tufts Questioned Concerning International Service Com-

BOSTON, July 29.—District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county, defending himself in the supreme court against charges of irregularities by Atty. Gen. Allen on which the latter has asked his removal had Chief Justice John A. Aiken and Judge Louis S. Cox, brother of Gov. Cox, both of the superior court, among the witnesses in his behalf today.

Chief Justice Aiken testifying that Mr. Tufts had pressed him for extra sittings of the court to clear the congestion of cases, said the district attorney's request for further sessions were earnest and frequent. After stating that the calendars in other districts also were crowded, Chief Justice Aiken was asked by counsel for Mr. Tufts:

"Where would you place Middlesex county?"

"In the activities of the district attorney first," he replied.

"Has Mr. Tufts conferred with you regarding the bail situation in his district?" the chief justice was asked.

"Yes, three or four times. He was dissatisfied with the management on the part of the bail commissioners. The securities were inadequate."

Chief Justice Aiken said he asked Mr. Tufts not to press the matter of securing more sittings because he thought it would be corrected by the court itself.

Chief Justice Aiken said he had held very few criminal sittings in Cambridge and had had very little opportunity to observe Mr. Tufts.

"Have you observed any incidences of malfeasance or nonfeasance on the part of Mr. Tufts?"

"No."

Judge Cox who presided over sittings in Middlesex county from Aug. 1919, to July 1, 1920, said he had not always followed the recommendations of the district attorney, other recommendations.

Predicts Milk at 10 Cents a Quart

BOSTON, July 29.—A retail price of 10 cents a quart instead of the 15 cents now paid for milk in Boston, was declared to be a possibility by the commission on necessities of life in its reply today to a request of the city council for information as to the milk situation. The commission said that the city of Boston by co-operating with the producers and distributors, could simplify the system of distribution so that the retail price could be materially reduced.

The commission referred to the milk situation in New York, where, it said, 60 per cent. of the milk sold to consumers was at 10 cents a quart. It pointed out that the infant mortality rate was lower in New York than in Boston and declared the commission's belief that the lower price had allowed for greater milk consumption and was thus responsible for the lower death rate.

"The commission believes that great benefit can be derived by the farmer, distributor and consumer, if the law of supply and demand has more effect upon the price of fresh milk to the people." The report pointed out that the retail price in Boston exceeded that of any other community in the state.

The question, conveyed through an interpreter, was answered as follows:

A Bank Man

We Knew and Respected said to us years ago—

"I never pay much attention to a man's assets. I must know about the man. If I find a man does not live cleanly, I will not lend to him. If I find he has ever lied, I will not lend. If he has a reputation for sharp practice, in brief that business is business. I will not lend. If I find he leads a good life, is truthful and fair in his dealings, I will usually lend regardless of assets. A scarcely ever have a note unpaid. It will be paid with interest in the end. The important asset is Character, for that grows in strength, while Capital sometimes is lost."

After digesting the foregoing, help yourself to this: A man goes into a Bank, a Stranger. Being identified, he makes his wants known, and he wants a loan. He shows one or more savings Book Accounts in his own name; the entries tell the story of the man's living habits. Can you think of any stronger, more self-evident Certificate of Character than this? Than a Bank Pass Book? Such a man is never "turned down." It takes RESOLUTION to begin a Savings Account, especially if one is on the shady side of thirty. But it takes something more, it calls for

to resist temptations and continually add to the account. Nevertheless it's the only way to establish oneself. You, Reader, have no Bank Account your Day of Opportunity has arrived this very week, this very day at

A temperature of 10 degrees lower than that recorded yesterday helped to make life a bit more bearable in Lowell today than it has been since last Sunday. At noon the thermometer was playing around the 82 mark, whereas yesterday it was flirting in the lower 80s. Last evening's brief storm cleared the air and today an overcast sky protected Lowellites from the direct rays of the sun that had been so intense during the five previous days.

However, with the drop in the temperature there seemed to come an increase in humidity. As a result the drop in temperature was not as pleasant as it might have been.

HERE'S THE CROWN PRINCE OF MILLAN

WASHINGTON, July 28.—"Women, eastern or western, they're all the same."
Crown Prince Zaradechno will tell you so. Some day Zaradechno will rule the 10,000,000 people of Millan, a little principality in northeastern Egypt, where his father, Abou Hassan, is now sultan.
When Zaradechno mounts the throne his royal consort will be Miss Katherine Spiegel, famous Kentucky beauty, whom he recently married. Incidentally, Miss Spiegel probably will be the first American girl to occupy a throne.

"The wife, Kipling, it is he who says the east and the west, they never meet," the prince said. "May be the men, they never meet, but the women, ah!"
"Women in your country wear the short skirt, sometimes the bare knee. In my country they wear the veil. But that is the outside only."
"The woman in the harem and your daughter—get under their skins and you find no difference."
"I love America and the American women. That's why I married one of them."

ABANDON PLANS FOR BRICK SCHOOL HOUSE

Plans for the erection of a brick school building for the local Greek community have been abandoned for the time being and a temporary wooden structure will be erected. This announcement was made today by President James Danas of the board of directors, who stated that the change of plans is due to the high cost of materials. He intimated, however, that as soon as prices of material are down to about normal, the original plans of the proposed building will be taken up and the work will be rushed along.

Members of the local Greek community have been planning to erect a modern school building for the past two years. The community owns a large tract of land in Broadway, Worthen and Dunmer streets and, according to original plans, the proposed building when erected will be located in Worthen street and will extend as far as Broadway on one side and Dunmer street on the other. Specifications for the new building were drawn and bids were called for, but the figures quoted by the contractors were so high that the directors of the community have decided to delay the construction until such time as the cost of materials is less prohibitive.

In the meantime, however, the needs of the children of the community have to be looked after. It is figured that there are more than 200 children who are unable to attend the parochial school because of lack of room, and at a recent joint meeting of the directors and school board of the community it was voted to erect a temporary wooden building for their accommodation. Plans for the new building, which will be two stories high and which will contain five rooms, have been drawn and contractors have been requested to submit bids. It is expected that the contract will be given out shortly and that work will be started in time to have the building erected for the opening of the fall term of the school next September.

Big Stocks of Liquor
"Millions of dollars' worth of liquors that have been seized in this state by federal officials are now held in storage," said Mr. White today. Large sums are being paid for the storage of the beverages which are constantly accumulating. There has not been a single condemnation proceeding for the forfeiture of the liquor brought since the Volstead act went into effect. The first case for disposing of the liquor is scheduled for a hearing in the motion session of the federal court next Tuesday.

"There are at the present time over 2000 condemnation cases on the court docket.
Over 900 Cases
"There are also over 900 cases charging violation of the liquor law now undisposed of before the court and practically every day brings additions to the list. A large part of these cases accumulated before I took office.
Mr. White admitted that with present court facilities it is practically impossible to dispose of the cases before the court. It would require months, perhaps years, for the single federal judge allotted to the district to hear all of the cases. Before they could get before the judge a long time would be required to present the cases to the grand jury.

Pressed by Lawyers
According to Mr. White, attorneys representing clients charged with violation of the liquor law are continually pressing him to dispose of cases that have been on the docket in some instances for a year and a half. He is powerless to act because the court facilities are not sufficient to permit of a disposition of the cases.
According to Mr. White the single federal district court judge allotted to Massachusetts is powerless to deal with the situation. Before the prohibitory law was enacted the Massachusetts district court had all of the cases it could satisfactorily handle. The addition of the vast number of cases charging violation of the Volstead act has literally submerged the court with the result that serious obstacles have been placed in the way of making the law effective.

According to Mr. White, Massachusetts is one of the largest districts in the country. To it but a single judge is assigned, while much smaller districts in the south and west have two or three men on the bench. To relieve the situation somewhat circuit court judges of Maine and New Hampshire have drafted into service in the Boston court. The matter is further complicated by the fact it is stated that admiralty cases have precedence before United States courts, and these cases are frequently long-drawn-out affairs.
To remedy long-drawn-out affairs, Mr. White states, measures are being considered which will give the United States commissioners power to dispose of Volstead act cases brought before them by imposing a fine or prison sentence, subject to appeal to the district court. It is stated that it is probable that a large number of cases could be promptly disposed of if this power were conferred.
Speeding Up Justice
Another measure that has been suggested for speeding-up the mills of justice, and which is embodied in a bill introduced in congress by Congressman Walsh of New Bedford, provides for the establishment of minor district courts, similar to state police or district courts, to have final jurisdiction in cases arising under the prohibitory law, judgments rendered in such courts to be

SHE TELLS HOW TO SELL HOUSES

MISS NELL HIATT

Ten years ago Miss Nell Hiatt started work as a file clerk in a real estate office at Lebanon, Ind.
Now Miss Hiatt owns the business and employs several men on her sales force.
Ask Miss Hiatt how she accounts for unusual progress and she'll tell you that it is because she selected a business for which woman is naturally adapted.
"Women do more living in the houses than men. They have a natural house love which men do not have. Thus when a man comes to me to buy a house I never try to sell him something just because I have that particular house to sell," says Miss Hiatt.
"I consider his family. Its type. I try to meet his wife and consider her type. Then I know just about what kind of a house she would want and I don't spend a lot of time trying to sell her husband something she wouldn't let him buy and wouldn't be happy in."
"When I plan a house which is to be sold or rented, I plan it from a woman's viewpoint. When I instruct my salesmen, I tell them to play up those things about the house which would be of interest to a woman. For after all, women are the buyers of houses."
"And women as salesmen can talk house—if they can talk at all—much more enthusiastically than a man. And a sale is half made if the salesman approaches it enthusiastically."

WOMAN WAS BURNED BY TAR

May Moran of 29 Sawtelle place sustained painful burns to her hands this morning, when she was struck by boiling tar in Middlesex street, shortly after 9 o'clock.
The young woman was talking on the sidewalk when men employed in putting a new roof on a building, spilled the hot tar over the edge of the roof. The woman was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance.

MUCH TIME DEVOTED TO BRIDGE HEARING

A long drawn out hearing during which there was testimony by engineering experts and at times sharp exchanges between counsel for the Engineering Service & Construction Co. of Boston and Prof. L. E. Moore, consulting engineer for the city on the Central bridge reconstruction job, took up more than an hour of the municipal council's time today. The hearing was held to straighten out several extra items charged by the company in its June bill, which City Auditor J. Joseph Hennessey held up because of doubt as to their legality. Thomas J. Mahony, counsel for the construction firm, explained at length why the charges were proper, but the council refused to O. K. two of the items until they had been approved by City Engineer Kearney. It was agreed to approve the rest of the June bill, totalling $12,218.35, but to hold out $750.16 until the engineer had gone over the matter with representatives of the company and had given his approval for the payment.

The council called upon City Engineer Kearney, Assistant City Engineer Arthur W. Bartlett and Prof. L. E. Moore as its witnesses. William A. Driscoll of the construction company was present but did not testify, leaving the company's case in the hands of Attorney Mahony.

The latter emphasized the fact that the company had no intention of being unfair with the city nor did it wish to make charges for extras which were not proper. He said that his client did not solicit the extra work but had been requested to do it by the city engineer's department with the understanding that the company's commission for all extra work should be 15 per cent of the cost, the usual arrangement in contracts of this kind, he said.

As the hearing progressed it developed that the only two items which were in doubt were one of $350.16 for insurance and public liability and another of $400 for general superintendence. The city contended that these expenses should come out of the 15 per cent commission of the company and should not rightfully be separate extra charges.

Prof. Moore contended that these charges were not proper and on being questioned by Attorney Mahony he flatly refused to answer hypothetical questions. He said he felt that nothing should be charged to extras except that which actually cost the company extra money.

Mr. Mahoney insisted that both the items in question were justified charges under the head of extras and it was finally voted to pay the bill minus these two charges with the understanding that they will be paid later if the company succeeds in convincing the city engineer and the city auditor that they should be paid.

Following the hearing on the bridge matter, the council approved a bill of $72 from Walter J. Nelson for the furnishing of films for the park department for July 26, 27 and 28. The petition of Mary J. Turcotte for a gasoline license at 18 Wannalancit street was held over for a hearing Sept. 6.

A claim for compensation because of bodily injury from Mrs. Mabel Stark was referred to the law department.

A number of pole location petitions from the Lowell Electric Light corporation were referred for hearings Sept. 6 and a communication on street matters from Charles O. Stuckney was placed on file.

Adjourned at 12:20 p. m. until Tuesday, Sept. 6.

FILE SUITS IN AUTO ACCIDENT CASE

Law suits aggregating $45,000 have been brought against residents of this city as a result of an automobile accident, which occurred a couple of weeks ago in Chelmsford street and in which George A. Frenette, a member of Battery B, lost his life. There are three separate cases, each in the sum of $15,000, the plaintiff in each case being Dezilda Frenette, wife of deceased, and administratrix of his estate.

Two of the suits are against Charles W. Wells and Miriam Miller, while the third is against Louis Rahhal, otherwise known as Louis Rahhal. The three cases are actions of tort and attachments have been filed at the local registry of deeds office.

It will be remembered that Frenette was killed on his way to Northampton, the automobile in which he was riding, with three other men, being operated by Louis Rahhal. It was claimed after the accident, that the party were going to Northampton to attend a fair and were carrying with them tent poles, which were strapped on the side of the machine. It is alleged that the front end of the poles became loose, and fell to the ground, the machine swerving to the left. Rahhal claimed that Frenette grabbed the wheel and then jumped out of the car, landing on his head. The chauffeur then lost control of the car, which crashed into a pole. Frenette died from a fractured skull at St. John's hospital a few hours after the accident.

YOUNG GIRL TELLS STORY OF MALTREATMENT

Cases of maltreatment of young girls in the vicinity of public recreation places are becoming alarmingly frequent, according to police reports and statements made by persons interested in the welfare of children.

In a crowded session of the juvenile court this morning, a girl 14 years old appeared and told a startling story of what had happened to her after she had been accosted by a stranger while she stood watching a merry-go-round. It developed during the hearing of the case that the mother of the girl is blind. Judge Pickman, in disposing of the case, made pointed references to the scoundrel who was responsible for the act.

Members of Paul Kittredge Council A.A.R.I.R., met last evening at the residence of Mrs. Craven on East Merrimack street and arranged for the outing at Revere beach next Sunday. The members and their friends will take cars from Merrimack square at 8 a. m. Plans were completed for an enjoyable day at the beach. A brief entertainment followed the meeting and refreshments were served. The committee will provide special tickets to be had from the committee on the morning of the outing.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—It was indicated today that the United States would reject any suggestion for separate parleys with any of the powers invited to participate in the conference on limitation of armament and discussion of Far Eastern questions. Sen. Gooding Assails Wool Schedule

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The wool schedule in the Fordney tariff bill was the special object of an attack by Senator Gooding, republican, of Idaho, in the senate yesterday. Mr. Gooding declared the old schedule K in the Payne-Aldrich act was "very commendable" as compared with the new wool schedule. "What schedule K did in an indirect way for the manufacturers, the wool schedule of the Fordney bill does directly," he said.

GIRL HIT BY AUTO ON DANGER LIST

Although some improvement has been noted in her condition, Antonina Mariakos, the seven-year-old girl, who was struck by an automobile in Merrimack street yesterday forenoon, is reported as being in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital, where she was taken shortly after the accident. The girl was struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. M. M. Curtis of Manchester, N. H., when she ran from the sidewalk into the path of the machine. At first the doctors at the hospital were unable to determine whether or not the girl's skull was fractured, but an X-ray picture of the injury has shown that there is a fracture slightly above the left eye. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pavoulas Mariakos, rear of 609 Market st.

REVIEW CASES OF 10,000
DISABLED VETERANS

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Review of the cases of some 10,000 war veterans rated permanently disabled was ordered yesterday by the war risk bureau as the result of a ruling by the comptroller of the treasury. It had been customary, bureau officials explained, to change the rating of a veteran from temporary to permanent disability after he had been six months in a hospital.

The comptroller's opinion, it was explained, requires that each case be judged on its individual merits, after medical examination. The loss of compensation to the veterans, officials said, would vary in different cases by a change in rating but could not be determined until after the review.

SAYS NORMAL BLOOD WILL PREVENT DISEASE

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Normal blood, both in quantity and quality, will prevent the presence of disease, Dr. W. Curtis Brigham of Los Angeles, Cal., declared here today before the closing session of the 25th annual convention of the American Osteopathic association.

What are termed circulatory whirlpools in the child's body are caused by abnormal postures, Dr. Brigham explained. These circulatory whirlpools in addition to poison from improper diet and poor care of the teeth, cause chronic disease, and if they are properly cared for in early youth, many operations will be avoided with a saving estimated at $2,000,000,000 annually, he said.

Psychologically, the brain is the least important part of the body and the pituitary body, one of the ductless glands, is by far more important, Dr. Ernest E. Tucker of New York, told the delegates. The mind is the action of the body rather than of the brain.

F. A. Covey of Hartland, Me., read a report of experiments. He stated vaccination has recently been found to transmit a mild degree of tuberculosis and venereal disease. This can be prevented, he declared, by exposure of the vaccine to blue and yellow light.

The alleged violation of professional ethics by Dr. H. L. Russell of Buffalo, in testifying in the Stillman divorce case, was up before the house of delegates of the association yesterday and a heated discussion ensued.

The New York Association of Osteopaths was ordered to make a thorough investigation and submit a report with recommendations to the national organization.

A telegram received from his attorney stated that Dr. Russell is on a vacation in Canada, but that he will welcome an investigation, "which will afford him an opportunity to defend himself against this unfounded criticism."

REPLY FROM DE VALERA

Communication to Lloyd

George Favorable—Craig to Meet Sinn Fein Chief

LONDON, July 29.—A communication from Eamon de Valera was received by the government yesterday (Thursday), according to the London Times.

"The contents were not divulged," says the Times, but it was noticeable in government quarters that there was no abatement in the hopefulness lately apparent there."

Optimism in Dublin

DUBLIN, July 29. (By Associated Press).—An air of unusual optimism prevailed in Dublin yesterday. Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, had an informal meeting with some of his colleagues, after which it was confidently stated that a communication from Mr. De Valera to Premier Lloyd George might be expected soon upon the proposed basis of a conference.

It was also declared that another meeting between Mr. De Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, was imminent and that an acceptable solution of the financial difficulty had been found in the shape of Ireland's assuming a portion of the national war debt.

The Dublin Evening Herald understands that matters of tremendous importance were discussed by the Dail Eireann cabinet Wednesday and that "the stage of discussions was passed and a fateful and happy decision reached."

The next move is likely to be the meeting in Ireland between the Ulster Premier and De Valera. It was somewhat difficult to arrange for this proposed meeting, but, according to the informant, "they have got over the fence."

The plan to assume a portion of the national debt, instead of paying a yearly contribution to the Imperial exchequer, which Sinn Feiners regard in the nature of tribute, is considered less objectionable, and would satisfy Lloyd George's contention that Ireland ought to pay something toward the cost of the war.

Letters received from the imprisoned Sinn Feiners indicate that there has been much improvement in their treatment since the truce.

Among the visitors to De Valera at the Mansion house yesterday was A. W. Cope, assistant under secretary in the office of the chief secretary for Ireland. It was he who signed the truce terms on behalf of the civil administration, and he has been one of the principal advocates of an amicable settlement.

De Valera Looks Happy

British Embassy Calls Off
Dinner — Publisher Sees
Harding—Assails Premier

WASHINGTON, July 29.—"Good Lord! And they talk about us having peanut politics in America!" This expresses the view of official Washington on the incident of the calling off of all official recognition of Lord Northcliffe by the British embassy as a sequel to his row with Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Curzon, the first manifestation of which was the barring of representatives of the Northcliffe newspapers from the confidences of the British officials.

The British embassy last night, to which all the members of the cabinet and various other distinguished citizens were bidden.

Lord Northcliffe was booked as the guest of the embassy and, according to precedent where a Britisher of his distinction was visiting this country, was to have lived there during his stay.

None of these things came off. According to one of the secretaries there was no dinner scheduled and no arrangement for the English publisher to be quartered at the embassy. However, a simple inquiry revealed that the cabinet members had all received the formal invitations and that, subsequently an attaché of the British embassy had called around to tell them that the dinner was off.

The matter was partially straightened out at the embassy by the statement that there had been no question of instructions of London, but that anything that had been done was on the volition of the ambassador himself. This statement does credit to the sportsmanlike quality of Ambassador Geddes in assuming responsibility but is hardly convincing.

The first indication of anything untoward was the failure of the ambassador to present Lord Northcliffe to the president, which would have been according to the diplomatic hoyle. However, it did not make much difference, as Northcliffe had a personal invitation to the White House and chatted with President Harding for an hour and a half. Later he put in half an hour with Sir Auckland Geddes—the two are personal friends—and today he is dining with pretty much the same guests as were bidden to the embassy at the home of Edward B. McLean.

Probably the best comment on the Incident is that of Lord Northcliffe himself.

"The situation as I see it is quite amusing," said he. "I do not wish to further involve my friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, who has behaved quite nicely in a difficult matter. My small staff and I were invited to stay at the British embassy and one or two dinners were to be given at which I was to meet members of the cabinet and some old senatorial friends."

"Shortly before leaving London my London Times ventured in modest terms to criticize our foreign secretary, Lord Curzon. I believe him to be a pompous and inefficient man and I said so, as I am entitled to do. I know he was among the politicians

Lowell Labor Will Be Employed

CAMOUFLAGE

"These men are trying to soften this nefarious proposition by saying that Lowell labor will be employed as far as possible. This is a bluff, pure and simple, and nobody will have anything to say about the hiring of labor but the contractors, once they get their grip on Lowell Streets."

Sunday News, July 10th.

FACTS

"Such contract shall be entered into only after bids, therefore have been called for by public advertisement, and SHALL CONTAIN SUCH LEGAL PROVISIONS FOR THE EMPLOYMENT AS LABORERS OF PERSONS RESIDENT IN LOWELL AS THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL SHALL APPROVE."

Exact wording of the Initiative Petition, filed with the Municipal Council.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELVES

Read the above section of the Initiative Petition over very carefully and bear in mind that when this is accepted by a majority of the voters, on Tuesday, August 9th, it becomes a Law. Can you imagine a Municipal Council, elected by the voters of Lowell, who would dare to disobey this section of the Petition and do otherwise than to provide in every contract that Lowell Labor SHALL build the Streets of Lowell?

Does not that dispose for all time of that silly and senseless argument that "Outsiders" and "Imported Labor" will be employed?

Does it not go farther than that and firmly establish the fact that Lowell Streets SHALL be built only by Lowell Labor?

"When Lord Curzon was viceroy of India his plan to stifle criticism, of which he is very much afraid, was to cut off official news and remove the names of the staff of any offending newspaper from the government entertainments at Calcutta."

"Well, my newspapers are not Indian newspapers and Washington is not Calcutta. The guests invited to the British embassy dinner will have been politely notified by the embassy that the dinner is off. I have often dined at the embassy and while I regret that I shall not have the pleasure of visiting my friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, I am amply compensated by the fact that the same guests have been invited to meet me by the social leader of Washington, Mrs. Edward B. McLean, whom I know to be most charming."

AT REVERE BEACH

A trip to Revere beach was enjoyed yesterday by members of the Revere lodge, L.O.O.F. of North Billerica. The trip was made in a motor truck and all enjoyed it thoroughly. A dip in the ocean, a program of sports and a beautiful dinner were the chief attractions of the day.

To Increase Flesh

To put on solid, healthy, permanent, firm flesh, you must give your system plenty of health-giving nourishment, just as you would put good heat-producing fuel in an engine if you wanted to make steam.

By taking a little MEDIC-YEST with each meal that you eat, you increase the nourishment of your food. Nourish wasting tissues, invigorate vital organs and restore waning nerve force.

MEDIC-YEST TABLETS contain these rebuilding natural elements in the Vitamins which Science calls the "Soul of the Food." MEDIC-YEST TABLETS positively will add a solid flesh and increase energy when taken regularly with your meals. MEDIC-YEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to acquiring normal weight.

TAKING UP TRACKS

Employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. are taking up the old tracks on the old East Billerica line in Andover street, Billerica Centre. This line was discontinued several years ago but it was only recently that the selectmen of the town requested the company to remove the old iron as that portion of the road will soon be macadamized.

ALLEGED CONFESSION BY HAPPY FELSCH BARRED

CHICAGO, July 28.—Fighting desperately in a final attempt to tighten the grip of the law on the defendants in the baseball trial the state today twice met defeat when Judge Friend barred an alleged confession from "Happy" Felsch that he received $5000 to throw the 1919 world's series games and tentatively denied the prosecution's attempt to recall David Zeiser of Des Moines, Ia., another defendant, to the witness stand.

Judge Friend, in refusing to admit the testimony against Felsch, said it "appeared that the state had gambled with the defense in strategy and loss."

Felsch's statement was alleged to have been made to a Chicago newspaper reporter just after the first indictments. The state maintained it had just learned of this statement but Judge Friend held that it should have been learned of it long ago and that "negligence in the state's attorney's office should not jeopardize a defendant's liberty."

Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis player, was hurriedly summoned to Chicago to testify and was expected to go on the stand at the afternoon session.

tions coming from police and probation officers. He said it was the practice to take all facts that appeared in evidence and he could not say that he was very much influenced by the district attorney.

Judge Cox was asked in detail about the disposition of certain cases which were mentioned in the attorney general's specifications. Some of these he remembered, others he was unable to recall. He said he had noticed no instances of malfeasance on the part of Mr. Tufts.

In cross-examination, Judge Cox said that in the case of Ernest W. Mantha of Marlboro, which was disposed of by him, the question was whether the onus of justice would be met by imposing a fine and not a sentence. The district attorney did not suggest that Mr. Chase of the Watch & Ward Society should be heard. Judge Cox said it was not brought to his attention that the children of Marlboro were being corrupted by the Mantha gambling place.

He said he thought it was the practice in Suffolk for assistant district attorneys to not prosecute without the authority of the district attorney. In Bristol and Barnstable, District Attorney Kenney attended to that himself. In Essex when he was there as district attorney the assistants did not not prosecute without the direction of the district attorney or the court.

Questioned on Lowell Case

District Attorney Tufts was examined and cross-examined concerning the International Service company, Lowell branch, during the morning session.

Tufts said that a Mr. Rogers of Lowell called his attention to the International activities. Mr. Tufts said that he requested a Lowell attorney, named O'Neill, to investigate the charges.

Question: "Did you ask Capt. Gordon of Cambridge to see O'Neill and help push the investigation?"

Answer: "Yes, O'Neill told me that there were several companies operating in Lowell, and that one Sunday paper had been running stories about the Greene and other companies. In Lowell it was said that the International Service company gave the impression that it was a bank and that people could get their money out at any time. Capt. Gordon told me that he saw the International people in Boston and said that the interview was not satisfactory."

TUFTS

Question: "Do you remember Athans or any other member of the company coming to see you?"

Answer: "Yes, Athans, Levenson and others came to see me. Athans said they had not been violating the laws in Lowell, and that they did not intend to. I told them that my report intimated that they were posing as bankers. Athans said it was done without the officers' instructions."

Denies Shaking Fist

Question: "Did you shake your fist at these men?"

Answer: "No, I simply tapped with my pencil. I had no hostility toward them. I did not threaten them into employing Corcoran."

Question: "Did you say the Lowell matter would have to go to the grand jury?"

Answer: "No, because I had turned this matter over to Assistant Wagner."

Question: "After that did you have anything to do with the case?"

Answer: "None at all."

Question: "Did you ever have any conversation with Corcoran about this matter?"

Answer: "No."

On cross-examination by Attorney General Allen, Mr. Tufts was asked: "Did you ever learn from any source

FEAR GENERAL UPRISING IN CHINA

PEKING, July 28 (by the Associated Press).—Fear of a general uprising along the Yangtze-Kiang river is felt here as a result of hostilities between the provinces of Hunan and Hupeh, the former under control of the Canton, or Southern Chinese government, and the latter under jurisdiction of the Peking, or duly constituted Chinese government.

The invasion of Hunan troops of Hupeh appears to be directed by Chao Feng-Ti, governor of Hunan, for an alleged violation by Hupeh of the inter-provincial peace agreement. Gen. Pu Pei-Yu, commander of the government troops in Hunan and idol of the hordes, has been ordered to lead the advance on Hupeh, while Gen. Chang Tsao-Lin, governor of Manchuria, is despatching troops from Mukden to aid the southern forces.

Despatches from Canton, seat of the southern government, indicate that the invasion is prompted by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, head of that government, and is in line with his plan to accomplish coalition of the Yangtze-Kiang and southwestern provinces against Peking.

that Corcoran was employed on this case?

Answer: "I don't remember; I had so many cases."

Question: "Was this man, O'Neill, the same man employed in the Lowell midwife case?"

Answer: "Yes, one of the counsel."

Question: "Did O'Neill furnish you with one specific case of complaint against the company?"

Answer: "I could not say."

Question: "When you acted in this matter did you have one complaint against the company?"

Answer: "I had only such knowledge as I gained from O'Neill."

Tufts admitted that although he knew Attorney General Allen was investigating the Greene company and other companies he did not turn over any information to Mr. Allen.

Question: "Did you feel interested enough to find out what investigation was made in the Lowell cases?"

Answer: "I did not inquire specially. I just know what Mr. Wagner did."

Mrs. Sewell's Deposition

The reading of the deposition of Mrs. Benjamin Sewell, formerly the wife of Capt. Charles E. Stearns, ex-city solicitor of Waltham, regarding her alleged attempt to obtain a divorce from Capt. Stearns through the aid of Dist. Atty. Tufts, continued at today's session. Atty. Gen. Allen charged that Mr. Tufts conspired with Mrs. Stearns (now Mrs. Sewell), a "Miss Pennington" and a "Miss Shaw" to secure the commission of crime by Capt. Stearns in order that his wife might obtain a divorce on the grounds of adultery.

The deposition of Mrs. Sewell in cross-examination by the prosecution reiterated her denial of the testimony of her sister, Mrs. Annie E. Brown, of Brighton, that Mr. Tufts told Mrs. Stearns he could make a case for her by trapping Stearns with a woman. Mrs. Sewell said that Mr. Tufts told her that he could not take her case because he would have to prosecute if Capt. Stearns were arrested.

Hand Writing Expert Called

The defense case was suspended temporarily to allow Atty. Gen. Allen to introduce William E. Kingston of Boston, a handwriting expert. The effect of his testimony was that the writing of a letter written by Joseph M. Levenson, counsel for motion picture producers, was identical with that on an envelope addressed to Mrs. Florence Abrams of New York, wife of Hiram Abrams. It had been testified that this envelope contained a newspaper clipping describing a midnight revel at the Woburn roadhouse, Mishawum Manor, in which motion picture men were participants. Levenson, as their attorney, was given $100,000 in behalf of Hiram Abrams, Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky to stop threatening litigation and prevent further publicity of the affair. Mr. Levenson, as a witness, denied addressing the envelope or having sent the clipping to Mrs. Abrams.

Former Mrs. Stearns Testified

BOSTON, July 28.—Mrs. Helen Weaver Sewall, formerly the wife of Captain Charles Ephraim Stearns of the United States army, concerning whose divorce from Captain Stearns District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts was accused by Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of conspiring in the commission of a crime to afford grounds for Mrs. Stearns' divorce from Captain Stearns, declared in her deposition, read yesterday afternoon at the Tufts trial, that Mr. Tufts never proposed an "arrangement" to trap Captain Stearns.

Mrs. Sewall denied in toto all the sensational evidence given in the trial last week by Mrs. Anna Eastman Brown, which was to the effect that Tufts, in her presence, told Mrs. Sewall (then Mrs. Stearns) that the matter could be "arranged" and that

BILLION DOLLAR LOSS

NEW YORK, July 28.—Idle men and machinery are causing a loss of nearly a billion dollars a year in the metal trades industry, says a report issued today by the committee of the American engineering council on elimination of waste in industry. This estimate does not include the value of materials that would be utilized if productivity were increased.

Instability of labor employment and faulty management, the committee says, are major causes of waste in the industry, which is the largest manufacturing industry in the United States both in number of employees and value of products.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Agreement has been reached by house and senate conferees on the hospital section of the Sweet bill for consolidation of government agencies dealing with former service men.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Twelve thousand enlisted men will be discharged from the navy upon application in order to reduce the personnel to legislative requirements of the 100,000 men for whom pay is provided.

facturing industry in the United States both in number of employees and value of products.

"Manufacturers," the report adds, "can undoubtedly hasten a return to normal conditions by producing goods as economically as possible so as to make selling prices low enough to attract buyers."

"It is evident that management of labor must be elected to a higher plane. Because labor is the major factor in most if not all industries, it should be led by recognized intelligence rather than by radical agitators on the one hand or by stupid reactionaries on the other."

First Engine Run In N. Y. 90 Years Ago and Famous 999 Arrive at Chicago

CHICAGO, July 29.—The De Witt Clinton engine, with its historic coaches, the first locomotive operated in New York state 90 years ago, and the old New York Central engine No. 999, proud holder of a record of 112.5 miles an hour which has never been equalled in 28 years, arrived in Chicago today to be exhibited at the pageant of progress which opens tomorrow. The De Witt Clinton train arrived on flat cars from New York. Men and women attired in the costumes worn in 1831 boarded the coaches, and the little engine then steamed through the city under its own power, looking just as it did when 90 years ago it ran between Albany and Schenectady.

The famous 999 followed the De Witt Clinton train. She was driven by Charles Hogan of Buffalo, who handled the throttle in her record-breaking trip on May 10, 1892.

FRECKLE-FACE

Heat and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the lovely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case. Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength ointment as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Harvard Elliott, Chairman of Northern-Pacific R. R. Optimistic After 6000 Mile Trip

NEW YORK, July 29.—Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific railroad, was optimistic today on his return from a 6000 mile tour of the Pacific northwest and Canada.

"Everywhere I went," he said, "there was a feeling of hope and belief that conditions would be better and in few places did I find any feeling of pessimism. The economic upheaval in North Dakota seems to have done its worst."

"The outlook for agricultural production is good. Minnesota crops will be above the average and North Dakota's will be considerable, although the excessive heat and drought of the last three weeks have reduced the prospects. Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington will have a production in grain, grasses and fruits above the average. Crops in the northern Pacific states will be good, taken as a whole."

SAYS BRITISH REPLY

"VIGOROUSLY WORDED"

LONDON, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The controversy between the British and the French governments over Silesia, has reached an acute stage, the latest British note drafted by Earl Curzon, the foreign minister, endorsed by the imperial cabinet, and handed to the French government in Paris this morning being officially described as a "vigorous worded" document.

The note ascribes the present situation to the presentation of the French note to Germany on July 16, calling attention to the German government to the still menacing attitude of the German defense troops in Upper Silesia without previous consultation with France's allies, the first departure from the policy of co-operation hitherto followed.

FATALLY INJURED WHILE BATHING

While bathing in one of the holes in the so-called "stone" in the Merrimack river at a point near the Moody street bridge at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Wilfrid Marcotte, aged 14 years and 6 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Marcotte of 199 Hall street, struck his head against a sharp rock and sustained a fracture of the skull. The boy was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where he passed away shortly after midnight.

The accident was similar to that which occurred in the Pawtucket canal last Sunday, when Eugene Marcotte, aged 17 years and residing in Salem street, also received a fracture of the skull when his head struck against a rock. He also died shortly after the accident at the Lowell Corporation hospital. Although of the same name, the two boys were not related.

The victim of yesterday's accident leaves his parents and eight brothers, Eugene, Jr., William, Charles, Arthur, Adelard, Narcisse, Albert and Henri. His body was removed to the funeral home of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Allen street and subsequently to the home of his parents.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow men."

For years I have been suffering through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 25 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

It stops itching in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

REDUCE THOSE DANGEROUS SWOLLEN VEINS

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only causes enlarged or varicose veins and bunions to become normal, but also reduces goiter, enlarged glands and wens.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directed and improvement will begin at once. Generous sample on receipt of 15 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y. Your druggist or Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

INSTITUTE OF POLITICS

Forum for Consideration of
International Problems
Opened at Williams College

WILLIAMSTOWN, June 29.—The Institute of Politics, a forum and a school for the consideration of international problems and relations, was opened at Williams College today. William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States supreme court, presided. Statesmen of high standing, among them Viscount Bryce, were present as members of its faculty. In the chairs as auditors and students were the executives or faculty members of many American colleges. It was a gathering unique of its kind, in what has been described as New England's most typical college town.

To determine the means by which international relations may be so adjusted that the strength of each may be developed for the welfare of all was advanced as the fundamental object of the institute in the opening address of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College. To the foreign statesmen who are to lecture before the institute, President Garfield extended a welcome and an appreciation. Chief Justice Taft, Governor Channing H. Cox, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University and Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston were other speakers at the opening session.

Mayor Peters said that international relations have never been so unsettled and the foreign relations of no country require more study than those of the United States. To that study this meeting can make a great contribution, he added.

"Western civilization is staggering from the exertion of the successful defense of free government. Mutual aid today is essential to help the struggling nations in their problems. Constant progress is impossible without the help of the United States. The relations of all the members of the civilized world must be studied; international stability must be maintained, and the people of the suffering nations helped to adjust themselves to the new conditions."

President Garfield in his address said: "We are passing from the old covenant to a new. 'Thou shalt not' is giving place to 'Thou shalt.' The maxim of equity applies as truly to nations as to individuals. Formerly it was indeed necessary that we should so use our own as not to do injury to the things of another. It was necessary that states avoid contact lest contact lead to conflict. The world was not then prepared to go farther. But henceforth we must add to the maxim this—And to use thine own as to enable others likewise to use that which is theirs. I conceive it to be the fundamental object of the Institute of Politics to seek until we have found the way by which international relations may be so adjusted that the strength of each may be developed for the welfare of all. But what is for the welfare of all, and by what means shall we seek the way? These are questions for which we hope here to find practical answers."

"We are advocates of no particular creed or cause, save only that truth and justice shall prevail among nations."

LAWRENCE FACES
ANOTHER TIE-UP

LAWRENCE, July 29.—Lawrence is threatened with another building workers' strike, following a conference between the master builders and the union leaders yesterday. The labor leaders desired to discuss wage scales; which the master builders refused to do, and the former returned to the meeting saying they would call special meetings of their respective unions tonight for a strike vote.

On April 1 last the men struck in opposition to a 15 per cent wage reduction. A truce was arranged by the state board of arbitration and conciliation on July 14, following which the workmen accepted the wage reduction with the understanding that a conference called for today would reopen the question.

About 3000 men of the allied crafts are affected, it was said, but it is not expected all will respond to a strike order.

Union Miners Go To Mingo County

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 29.—One hundred members of the United Mine Workers of America from the Cabin Creek and Paint Creek fields will start for Mingo county, according to C. F. Keeney, president of District No. 17. Mother Jones, labor organizer, is expected to arrive here tonight, Keeney said, and also will leave for the Mingo field immediately. Decision to send the union men into the district, which is under martial law, was made, the miners' president said, after workmen had received permission from state authorities to return to the fields to wind up personal business.

FEDERAL TAX REVISION
At the request of President Harding, congress, or at least the senate, is to take up the question of tax revision in preference to the tariff as the more urgent of the two problems demanding settlement.

There are a great many people who wonder why this was not done in the first place, as it has since been amply demonstrated that the business of the country will be benefited to a greater extent by relief from the great burdens of taxation than by changes in the tariff.

It is astonishing to what an extent the taxation system has reduced the number of millionaires who pay an income tax. In 1916 there were 200 residents in the United States who paid taxes on $1,000,000 or more; but in 1919 the number had been reduced to 65. In 1916 only 437,036 individuals paid an income tax; in 1917, the number had increased to 3,472,000, and in 1918 a total of 5,332,700, there was a gain of 301,615 over that of the preceding year.

It is not to be supposed that as the number of moderate income taxpayers increased, the number of high income earners suffered a corresponding decrease. Oh! no. They found the income tax ranging as high as 64.57 per cent, and to evade payment of this they invested their money in tax-exempt securities.

The millionaires have been compelled to pay a large share of the tax burdens and, therefore, they have put away their money in tax-exempt securities instead of putting it into business.

Remove these confiscatory surtaxes and the men of wealth will again use it freely in business enterprises. Is how tax revision will benefit business.

No man cares for the making money if the government steps in and takes two-thirds of the profits. But that is only one of many taxes the men of great wealth have to pay. If they are engaged in business, it is not surprising, therefore, that the millionaires have been hiding their money from the tax collector in tax-exempt securities. That is a legitimate transaction. The government wanted money and had to offer an inducement to get it. That explains why such opportunities were offered; but the government has found that this is a bad policy and it is now out to discourage the practice by states and municipalities.

Business by offering capital an inducement to withdraw, and going further in the excess profits tax it puts a direct tax on production. The system is bad, it is conceived in a spirit of plunder, and can be excused only by the exigencies of war. But before this system be abolished, another must be devised to take its place. What will that be? Some say a sales tax that will avoid pyramiding, and put the entire tax on the ultimate consumer. It is claimed by many that this will be the fairest kind of tax as the consumer has to pay the tax in the long run, however it is levied. He can pay it, better if he has a chance to work at a fair rate of wages.

But the present system has so many defects that it will be very easy to improve it so as to make it helpful instead of hurtful to the industrial interests of the country.

Another objectionable feature of the present taxation system is that despite its heavy charges, 23 cents of every dollar is spent on collection and chasing tax-dodgers. It is estimated that but 3 per cent of the sales tax would be used in meeting department expenses.

YOUR ROAD TO RICHES
Here's a man who, at 23, has worked himself up from stenographer to treasurer of the $100,000,000 company that supplies Chicago with gas. His name is George F. Mitchell.

What is it that has made Mitchell rise so rapidly to success while other men, who started on the same footing and with just as good chances, have stood still?

This question interests you, groping for the door to power and wealth. Its answer is—ability, good workmanship, thoroughness to the last detail, and patient toil to acquire knowledge.

At 14, Mitchell went to work for a steel mill. Three years later, he was taking a business and stenographic course by day and paying his way by "carrying a spear" and shifting theater scenery at night.

He rose to success because he did every job well, no matter how humble, and because he constantly trained himself so that whenever something better came along he was prepared to handle it.

At 43, Carl Nyquist is handling $140,000,000 worth of property. He's vice-president of the Rock Island railroad, and one of the youngest railroad executives in America.

"Luck? There's no such thing," says he. "I started at 19 as a $15-a-week clerk. How to succeed? Here's my way: "I made my work the most interesting and important thing in my life. I didn't change employers. I haven't taken a vacation in 15 years. And in 24 years I've missed only five days from my job. Make your work successful and your work will make you successful."

When John D. Rockefeller organized the Standard Oil company in 1870, he was only 31 years old. Despite his youth, he already was a big success, with his first million dollars within reach. If not already in his pocket.

Fifteen years before that, when he was 18, Rockefeller was a clerk in a commission house on old Water street, Cleveland.

Today he is the richest man in the world. Thousands of reasons have been advanced to account for his success. The real one was worked years ago by the people who employed him in his early youth: "He was the best clerk and bookkeeper we ever had."

The same was true of every job Rockefeller ever turned his hand to. If you doubt it, ask his competitors.

It is not given to all of us to become Rockefeller, Mitchells and Nyquists. But each of us can attain success to a satisfactory degree by observing three simple rules:

First: Do every job thoroughly as it comes along.

Second: While making the immediate job a success, lay out a campaign for the future and prepare yourself to handle a better job when it comes.

Third: Save your money so you

SEEN AND HEARD

Sometimes the fellow who takes most precaution in hot weather is first to succumb.

That old warning about alcoholic drinks in hot weather is hardly necessary nowadays.

The fellow who sleeps on the roof these hot nights has a great time with the mosquitoes.

If you are without sin throw all the stones you want to, but examine your conscience before you start throwing.

Who remembers when a fellow could put his feet under the mahogany in the Dutch room and slip high ones while the revolving fan caressed his fevered brow?

Parking the Boat
A large eyed boy on a ferry, standing on a post in the anxious embrace of his father, directed his gaze at the great auto trucks and automobiles that bounced on board. Just as the ferryboat was about to enter the slip on the New Jersey side the little man seized his father's ear and asked: "Now were going into the garage, ain't it, popper?"—New York Evening Post.

Passing the Buck
At a dinner on one occasion a professor thought he would ask a colored cloak room attendant a few questions about his memory.

As the attendant handed him his hat he said: "How do you know this one is mine?" "I don't know that, suh," was the answer.

"Then why do you give it to me?" queried the professor.

"Cause yo' gave it to me, suh."—Richmond Sunday Herald.

Tea Old Years Ago
A salesman-like looking inspector stopped over night at a small town Kansas hotel and was surprised to find a dignity roller towel in the washroom.

"Don't you know that it has been against the law for years to put up a roller towel in this state?"

"Sure, I know it," replied the proprietor, "but no ex post facto law goes in Kansas, and that there towel was put up before the law was passed."—Topeka Capital.

A Partial Stranger
A man who used to tramp ties on a railroad section was summoned as a witness in an inquest. He had been cautioned that he must be very exact in his statements.

"Was the deceased a complete stranger?" asked the coroner.

After duly pondering the question, he replied: "He was what I should call a partial stranger."

"Either you knew him or you did not," said the coroner sternly. "There is no such thing as a partial stranger."

"Well," he answered, "I don't know how else to describe him. He was a one-legged man."—Union Pacific Bulletin.

Cigars 34 Apiece
"That house took $17,000 worth of cigars from me last year," said a cigar man, who has been dealing with the big men in Wall Street for 40 years.

"It is astonishing how many high grade cigars some of the Wall street houses take, brands which the general public hardly ever hear of. The Olympian smokers are either dead or retired from the street, however. John Gates, who frequently gave me an order for 2000 prima cigars at 44 apiece to distribute among his friends, was one of my best clients. Charles Gates frequently duplicated the order. J. P. Morgan smoked specials at 42 each; a cigar so strong and full that one had to be a real man to tackle it. I remember showing one of these to Dan Reid, who smoked the best. He immediately wanted 1000, and although P. M. was not a client of mine, I got the tinplate man a similar cigar from the special factory in Havana. William Leeds smoked 32 cigars at the rate of five to ten daily. I remember a woman coming to my office and ordering 1000 cigars, at 41 apiece, with the proviso that no advertisement of any kind should appear on the box or cigar. I assured her this would be all right and she was addressed to Theodore Roosevelt, at the White House. The lady was a relative of the same name. Roosevelt usually smoked a 15-cent cigar."—Wall Street Journal.

Over the Hills
Over the hills is a vale somewhere. With leaf-hung aisles and contentment there.

We glimpse it afar through an opal haze. As our feet fare toward it through tangled mazes.

For some 'tis the future, for some the past; This refuge spot in the distance vast. But we view it alike, 'neath the star-placed skies.

Or at birth of dawn; as the moonlight dies. The picture stands out on life's crowded page. And we see it in youth or in ripe old age.

And gazing, enraptured, the fever thrills. While the soul looks up and the spirit thrills— And out of its glory we gather how To borrow its theme for the work of now.

And we drink new hope when the need so wills. From the deep cool waters—over the hills.

—WILLIAM E. CAMERON.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)
Merrimack Square Theatre

Don't complain about the hot weather—step into the Merrimack Square theatre and forget it. Let yourself be carried away to the lands of romance and adventure and your mind taken from thinking continually about the weather. There's a program of more than ordinary merit being shown here today. Take for instance, the leading feature, "A Private Scandal," starring pretty and capable star Adele, a newcomer to the film firmament. This is an entrancing story, well acted and with a delightful setting. Bernard Durning in "Plane of Star Holm" takes one to the land of the mounted police. A comedy, the international News and the Sport Pictorial complete the bill.

THE STRAND
"The Last Door," Eugene O'Brien's latest starring vehicle of the screen, is filled with action and there are many surprising twists that keep the ending always in doubt. It is a story filled with many tense situations. "Voices of the North," the Eva Novak offering, is also one of an unusual and unique nature that is a most absorbing entertainment to the motion picture fans. The Strand is the "coolest spot in town," and there are 1000 seats at 10 cents.

A FIRELESS ALARM
Shortly after 10:30 o'clock last evening members of the fire department were called to the Card building in Market and Shattuck streets, where the automatic fire alarm was out of order. It took the firemen some time to put the mechanism in order again and their presence on the premises attracted a large crowd of spectators.

Adventures of The Twins

PRETTY SOON COB CAME SNEAKING ALONG

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, watched beside the Willow Tree pool, after Marty Mink had slid quietly into the muddy water. They hadn't forgotten that Cob Coon had also telephoned that he had an engagement with Blackie Bass at 9 o'clock that evening, and they wondered what had suddenly made Blackie so popular. But Sprinkle-Blow was suspicious, knowing Marty and Cob so well.

Pretty soon Cob came snooping along the lower branches of the willow tree and looked down. "Good!" said he. "Not only has Mr. Sprinkle-Blow made the water muddy so that Blackie can't see me, but he has blown out the moon. All I have to do is to hang onto a low branch and reach down. I know exactly where Mr. Bass Fish is, but he can't see me."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I have been told that a very great number of Lowell young women who will at some time take the examination to become teachers in the local public schools would greatly appreciate action on the part of the school committee which would set the date of the annual examination much earlier in the year than the month of June. Under the present regulations the examination is held just at that period of the year when the candidates for positions have either just completed their year's work, or probationary teaching outside of the city or have been out of Normal school but a few days. Nine times out of ten examination day is scorchingly hot and the candidates are both mentally and physically tired. But the most salient reason for the desire for a change in date is the fact that it is usually late in July before the candidates know whether they were successful and whether they are to teach in Lowell the coming September or go out of town. There seems to be no good reason why the examination could not be held in the winter or early spring, say on a Saturday of some vacation period. I understand that this change in question has been suggested by a prominent official of the local school department but up to date no school committee has seen fit to take the necessary action to legalize the change.

My young friend Archibald, who is addicted to modern dancing, runs breathlessly to me to inform me that there is a corking new dance step out which is called the "scandal." If it is anything like its name it certainly must be a "porker." He tells me that it is a combination of the "red-die" and the "camel walk," combining as he says "the best points of each with none of the objectionable features of either." He even went so far as to illustrate it for my benefit. With left arm held high in the air and right arm encircling an imaginary partner, he glided round and round my office stretching his legs in great strides and shaking his shoulders in unison. At the beginning of each step, his whole body would sink slightly and at the end of the step would come the shoulder quivering. I did not scold him, but smiling told him that it was indeed a "corker" and he went happily away to Lakeview to practice the new step. He is young yet and I have hopes that he will get over it in the course of time.

France is having a hard time keeping ahead of America. She is kicking about no-piece bathing suits.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Taboo

YOU may write me from the mountains or the sea
You may rave about the tennis and croquet,
You may sing a song of unrestricted glee
As you chronicle your happiness at play;
You may tell me all about the fun I miss
In the cards and in the letters you indite;
I can stand it if you'll only spare me this—
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

I'VE no doubt you've found a most enchanting spot
Where the swimming and the motoring are fine;
I'll admit the city's furiously hot
(I am getting too much fahrenheit in mine);
You may write to me of matters such as these
And I'll take them very calmly, but I'll fight
If you spill the superannuated wheeze,
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

WHEN I'm gasping in an oven of a room,
When I'm tossing on a mattress filled with fire,
It does not at all alleviate my gloom
As I cast away each vestige of attire,
To be told of gentle winds and chilly airs,
So I warn you to be careful what you write,
For I'm gonna kill the lollipop who declares
"We are sleeping under blankets every night!"

Army Aviators Forbidden To Do Stunts

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Army aviators are forbidden to make spectacular flights or do "aerobatic flying" over cities or other populous districts in general orders announced today. "Planes will be so flown," the orders said, "that their lines of flight and altitude will be such that a glide with dead motor can be made to a safe landing without danger to persons or property on the ground."

Farmers Abandon Tobacco Growing

WINDSOR, Ont., July 29.—Abandoning tobacco growing because of greatly decreased prices, many Essex county farmers have planted their fields to potatoes, which are resulting in larger profits than ever were derived from tobacco. Quality of the potato crop is reported the best in years.

Coalspiel No. 6

We thought we would get a rise out of someone and we have two letters and here is number one and number two we will publish tomorrow—

Lajoie Coal Company. Lowell, Mass. July 23, 1921. Lowell, Mass.

My purpose in writing this letter is to protest against your absurd advertisements. They lack dignity and the English is abominable and the grammar execrable, and whoever writes the foolish stuff should be suppressed. I am forced to read them, they are so prominent and stare one in the face, but they are very objectionable and you should either change their tone and construction or stop advertising.

Yours, etc. J. L. M.

Now what do you think of that? Wouldn't you like to live with that old grovch. No sense of humor. Well bet he never went to a circus. Well we have the coal and good coal it is and we want your order. Conductor Cross on the B. & M. told us this morning that the Franklin coal we sent him is the very best coal he ever had.

fully appreciated as it would have been had other conditions been favorable.

The weather man gives hope of a continued break in the backbone of the heat wave in the predictions today. He looks for cooling showers again this evening.

Shower Last Evening
Lowell people found a little relief from the heat early last evening when this city got the tail-end of a storm that pelted down with considerable ferocity in the upper Merrimack valley but seemed to lose its strength when it reached Nashua. At 6.30 a smart shower fell here accompanied by a few rumbles of thunder but the bulk of the storm seemed to have passed on to Lawrence.

Before 7 o'clock the rain had stopped here and half an hour later the downtown streets were as dry as ever. However, the shower had the effect of cooling the air for a time at least and the thermometer went down into the 70s as the night wore on. The stars came out and many people got their first good night's rest since Sunday. Heat lightning played over the sky during the great part of the evening before all the clouds were finally dispersed.

Last yesterday afternoon the Broadway Social & Athletic club treated the children of the acre district to improvised shower baths that were more than appreciated. Several sprinklers and two lines of hose were brought into play and any kiddo that came within hailing distance was given a cooling bath. There were bathing suits of every description and variety in the crowd, some abbreviated and some of more than usual length, but all of them "got by" without the semblance of a complaint. Later the children were treated to ice cream cones and lemonade.

The committee in charge included President William Welch, Joseph Sheehy, "Jake" Quinn, William Shugrue, "Cool" Conley, Bert Callery, Charles Clancy and Robert Ganley. Miss Natalie McQuade, playgrounds in-

"Where did you get it? In some store?" "No." "Make it yourself?" "No." "Two months in the house of correction, with sentence suspended," was the pronouncement of the judge that ended the investigation. Albert O'Brien, who next appeared before the judge charged with unlawful riding on a freight train, had his case placed on file. As aftermath of an incident involving an alleged assault with a dangerous weapon in a pool room last March, Harry Clapper was before the court charged with making the assault. The case was continued to August 9. The case against James Apostolos, charged with assault and battery, was continued to August 10.

BANK'S LOSS $1,000,000

Officials Predict Speedy Apprehension of W. C. Spurgin, Missing Bank President

CHICAGO, July 29.—With the trail of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan Avenue Trust Co., apparently leading to the vicinity of Mobile, Ala., and authorities predicting his speedy apprehension, state's attorneys and investigators today continued their delving into affairs of the defunct institution and its president.

James McShane, assistant state's attorney said today that Spurgin, another man and two women visited the bank of Sunday, July 17. Before it had been believed that Spurgin left Chicago on July 15.

Clarence Beaudet, cashier of the bank, today intimated that the loss would be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and the depositors might expect to retrieve 65 cents on the dollar.

treated for burns about the chest and arms by Dr. Donovan at his home. Mrs. Geslowska had a boiler of hot water on the top of the stove in her kitchen and in an effort to stimulate the fire underneath poured kerosene on the coal. An explosion resulted, throwing the boiler to the ceiling and ripping part of it away. Kavitcha, the boarder, was standing near the stove at the time.

A telephone alarm was sent to the fire department although there was no blaze. District Chief Thomas Saunders ordered Kavitcha taken to the hospital and medical attention was secured at once for Mrs. Geslowska. They were both resting comfortably this afternoon.

President Replies To Cong. Byrnes' Denial

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Replying to charges that the administration had exaggerated pellagra and famine conditions in the south, President Harding declared in a letter to Representative Byrnes of South Carolina today that official reports indicated the contrary and that the government's investigation of the situation would go forward. The president wrote in response to a letter in which Mr. Byrnes had characterized any belief that plague or famine existed in South Carolina as "an utter absurdity."

Death Won In Cross-Country Race

LIMA, Ohio, July 29.—Death won in a cross-continental airplane race when Timothy Spellacy, 63, Los Angeles oil man, died at a hospital here as his brother Michael Spellacy raced eastward from Tulsa, Okla., to his bedside. Fifteen minutes after receiving a message that the death of his brother was imminent, Spellacy had engaged an airplane and the race began. Death came late yesterday before the Tulsa man reached Lima. Timothy Spellacy was widely known in politics in California.

Urged To Build Roads In Fall

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, July 29.—Gains of one to two points by active issues at the opening of today's stock market indicated that shorts were anticipating their customary week-end covering of contracts. General Electric, Bethlehem Steel and American Locomotive, which were among yesterday's heaviest features, led the rally. General Electric, however, soon cancelled its advance, showing fractional advances and declines. Shipplings, tobacco and chemicals were inclined to ease. Demand exchange on London was quoted at $3.56, but no business was reported at that figure.

Shipplings were under pressure during the morning. Mercantile Marine preferred declining over four points to yesterday's setback. Ralls showed increasing irregularity. Louisville & Nashville losing 2 1/2. Equipment of the better grade were firm but Crucible Steel was heavy and copper reacted on the lower prices quoted for the refined product. Oils were dull, foreign as well as domestic issues moving within narrow limits. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 4 1/2 per cent.

Mercantile Marine preferred recovered part of its decline in the light dealings of the noon hour and Crucible Steel made up its two point loss. Elsewhere, notably among shipplings, oils, rails and food specialties, further short covering and better prices occurred.

Extensive offerings of Pierce-Arrow, common and preferred, and United Fruit underlined the list later. Junior rails also reacting. The closing was heavy.

TO CONSIDER BRITISH TERMS

DUBLIN, July 29.—(By the Associated Press)—It now appears certain that the summoning of the Irish republican parliament to consider the British terms will be one of the very next steps to be taken in connection with the peace negotiations. Although the call of parliament for this purpose is not likely to occur immediately, no date having yet been fixed, the apparent fact that such a session has been decided upon encourages the hope that the negotiations will prove fruitful.

No application has as yet been made for the release of those members of parliament still in prison, but their freedom is declared to be certain once the date of the meeting is fixed.

The master of the rolls today issued writs of detachments against General Sir Nevill Macready, commander of the British troops in Ireland. Major General Sir Edward Strickland, British commander, and others failed to comply with writs of habeas corpus ordered by the matter of the rolls on Tuesday last demanding the production in court today of John Egan, sentenced to death by a military court in Limerick in June last for having ammunition in his possession.

pendent upon our relations to other countries and the maintenance of those relations in a friendly state of mutual confidence and good wishes."

So he struck the keynote, supported in words very similar by President

Harvard, Garfield of Williams college. President Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university and Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston, in speeches which bring to birth an undertaking without precedent in the academic history of the United States.

With Viscount James Bryce, Senator Tilton and Count Teleki among those who give its public lectures, Norman H. Davis, Leo S. Rowe and George Gratton Wilson among its round table leaders, and President Charles F. Thwing of Western Reserve university, President Pendleton of Wellesley and more than 100 well known bankers, lawyers, officials and college professors as its students and members, the institute will devote an entire month to intensive study and research in the field of international affairs.

Justice Taft's Address

In his introductory address, Chief Justice Taft spoke in part as follows: "It would be difficult, perhaps, even if every people understood the standpoint of every other people in the world, to reconcile differences and maintain complete good feeling; still the greatest obstruction to the world's maintaining harmony among its members is the misunderstanding between them and the lack of accurate information which one nation may have of the exact situation of the other and of the necessary effect of that situation upon that other's views of their relations."

"Progress made in any field of human activity is dependent upon reliable and accurate knowledge. By as much as that evidence falls in accuracy or extent, the deficiencies of progress are measured. This institute is to help perfect the evidence as to the facts bearing upon the international relations between countries. Foreign relations are not affected by material, statistical and economic facts alone, but also by the interpretation of those facts or the belief as to what the facts are by the people of each country."

"This institute was conceived before the war came on, but its organization had to be postponed because of the war. The war made its usefulness clearer. We are apt to indulge in a pessimistic estimate of the good that has been accomplished, but also the realization of those facts or the belief as to what the facts are by the people of each country."

Dope Stories as Camouflage

story that officers of the local vice squad had three cases against alleged violators of the anti-narcotic laws which "would be presented to the federal grand jury next fall."

Local police officials were moved to mirth when the story was brought to their attention. "What have members of the Lowell force got to do with presenting cases to the federal grand jury?" asked one of the officials. "They have nothing to do with enforcing federal laws. That matter is in the hands of the federal authorities. There is a Massachusetts state law full of teeth that covers fully the sale and use of drugs. If the local officers, as alleged, had evidence of either illegal sale or use, it would be their duty to bring the matter at once to the attention of the local court. A further absurdity in the story is that although the officers have evidence of violation of the law they propose to permit the alleged guilty parties to remain at large until next September when the matter would be brought before the federal grand jury."

It is an unusual reflection on the intelligence of the officers that they have such sublime confidence in human nature that they would permit persons whom they believed to be guilty of a serious crime to remain at large for more than a month with a confident belief that they would be where they could be found when wanted.

Other parts of the story circulated today relate to the alleged sale of a can supposed to contain opium to a Chinese laundryman for a fancy price and the discovery that the can contained axle grease. The story is said to be hoary with age in the annals of journalism. The thing really happened in Boston about the time when the Ann first took the throne in China, which was some years ago.

The absurdity of other tales relating to the sale of cans of opium, it is pointed out, are equally absurd in that dope peddlers are not such unwary persons as to take chances with bulky cans when they can carry all of the active principle of a large receptacle full of crude opium hidden away

In an envelope concealed in the sole of a shoe.

The only elements of truth in the stories that Lowell is overrun with "dope" peddlers and users seems to be found in the fact that federal authorities in making their regular inspections of the records of drug stores have found evidence of at least a technical violation of the Harrison law that may lead to arrests.

NEW ENGLAND SWEEP BY SEVERE STORM

BOSTON, July 29.—Thunder storms broke the heat wave throughout New England last night, lightning hitting barns, churches and other prominent structures, burning many of them. Trees were leveled everywhere in the path of the storms, which were always marked by a few minutes of titanic energy, during which most of the damage was done.

There was a singular absence of fatalities, one man killed at Boston's Island, Mr. Freepont, being the only death reported. The area hardest hit extended from Pittsfield, Connecticut Valley, Newburyport, Southern New Hampshire and Maine.

SALISBURY BEACH
COTTAGES WRECKED

BOSTON, July 29.—Wilmington, long known as "The Village Beautiful," because of its beautiful, historic trees, was a scene of devastation and ruin last evening. A veritable hurricane, accompanied by a severe thunder storm, swept down upon the town shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and in a few minutes had strewn it with wreckage.

Upwards of 100 trees, many of them gigantic elms, maples and magnolias that have stood along the sides of the main street for scores of years, were uprooted and blown across the highway or against the roofs of nearby dwellings. One large tree fell across a sedan automobile and a heavily loaded truck, crushing them as if they were paper.

Both sides of Main street, for almost a mile, were almost denuded of trees. Traffic was blocked for more than an hour and last evening scores of men were busy with axes and saws clearing the highway. Several small outbuildings were blown down and roofs torn from houses by the high wind.

A deluge of rain, accompanying the wind storm, badly damaged many gardens and flattened many fields of corn in the vicinity of the town. Streets and sewers were flooded and telephone and telegraph lines put out of commission for some time.

The United States lighthouse tender Mayweather waged a terrific battle against the hurricane before putting into the harbor last evening, badly damaged and with members of the crew completely exhausted.

The craft was in the harbor working on the buoys and was passing the Black Rocks section of Salisbury beach when the storm broke. She immediately attempted to put back into Newburyport harbor, but lost her way and finally, seeing the buoy that the Newburyport bar, eluded about until after the storm.

She put into the harbor later with all her canvas gone and badly battered. The captain reported that while passing Black Rocks he saw two large cottages on the Salisbury beach end of the bar blown into the ocean by the blowing wind, which, he said, was blowing at the rate of 90 miles an hour.

Worst Storm in Years.—NEWBURYPORT, July 29.—A terrific electrical storm, accompanied by wind that blew with hurricane force and a heavy downpour swept this city just before 6 p.m. last evening. It was the worst disturbance experienced here in recent years.

Shade trees were uprooted in all parts of the city and sent crashing to the ground, in many instances carrying telephone and electric light wires with them. Several streets were closed to travel on account of dangerous live wires and tree barbed wires. All the streets having shade trees are strewn with branches. A number of chimneys were blown down.

The power used by the cars of the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway was shut off as the storm broke and cars were stalled on all lines. When the storm passed the cars could not move on several lines until tree obstructions were removed. All the forces of the electric light, telephone and railway companies as well as the tree warden's department, were put at work.

SPENT FORTUNE IN SEARCH FOR HEALTH

Mrs. St. Pierre Lost Hope of Recovery But Is Like New Woman Now.

"It was one of the most blessed days in all my life when I got Tania," said Mrs. Mary St. Pierre, 2003 South Main st., Fall River, Mass., "for I wouldn't take all the medicine in the world for the good the medicine has done me."

For the past ten years I suffered from indigestion so bad the slightest food would distress me and was often unable to retain anything on my stomach. The pains were as sharp as knives and words just can't explain what I endured for many years, for the long-est time I scarcely ate anything, of ten going for several days without a bite, and just suffered right on. I could scarcely sleep any, always felt tired and irritable, and the least bit of housework would tire me out completely. I spent a small fortune trying to get my health back, but always met with disappointing results. Finally I lost hope, and thought there was nothing I could do but wait the day when it would all be over with.

About two months ago, however, I saw a testimonial in the paper which impressed me so much that I sent right down to the drug store, and got me a bottle of Tania. Well, I don't know taking it but about three days when I noticed it was helping me, and I knew then that I had found the right medicine for my case. I've taken four bottles now, and am a new woman. My appetite is simply ravenous, and I eat, no matter what or how much I eat, everything I agree with and just finally I sleep like a child every night, and can do my housework in half the time it used to take me. I can go out with my daughters to shows and social gatherings and enjoy myself better than I have in years. Tania certainly has proved a blessing to me. I can't praise it enough."

Tania is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tania representative; by Wright Drug Co., 100 North Main, D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.

Highways are down. Lightning put the entire fire alarm out of business.

Woonsocket Hard Hit.—WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 29.—As the result of the most severe electrical storm in years about 10 o'clock last night in the vicinity, telephone service in the suburban sections is demoralized and no trunks have been entered this city from Woonsocket since 10 o'clock last night, due, it is reported, to trouble at the power stations on the line. During the storm lightning struck a house at Millville, Mass., and prostrated a father and four-year-old son who were asleep in bed. The child is said to be in a critical condition. The house was practically destroyed by fire which followed. Woonsocket sent fire apparatus to the scene. The storm here was the third of the night, two having passed around the city earlier in the evening.

PRICES BOOM UPON
PRESIDENT'S VISIT

WASHINGTON, July 29.—A commercial boom, whose rumblings have been felt all the way back to Washington, is to spend several days near here next week at the home of Secretary Weeks.

Before the president's plans became known a telephone call from the White House to the Chicago hotel elicited the information that rooms with bath readily could be secured there for $2.50 a day. Just yesterday the hotel keeper wired as follows:

"All our baths now engaged for next week. We are now American plan, $8.00 a day."

The longest straight line boundary in the world is that between Alaska and Canada, 1507 miles long.

Tufts Case

An attractive woman could be secured who would go to Fort Monroe, Va., make the acquaintance of Captain Stearns and entice him into a compromising position in which detectives would catch him.

Mrs. Sewall denied that Tufts ever suggested to her that she engage Daniel H. Coakley as her attorney in the matter, stating that Tufts after examining the letters that she thought gave her cause for divorce action, stated simply that because of his official position as district attorney, he felt that he could not have anything to do with the matter, and that from that time up to now she has never seen Mr. Tufts, communicated with him or heard from him in any way.

Mrs. Sewall reviewed in detail her two interviews with Tufts, the first of which she said was alone at his Waltham office in April, 1915. She said that at that time she submitted to him a number of letters that had been written by Miss Jeanie Penn of Waltham, whom she knew as a member of the same church she attended and as a stenographer.

References to White Kid Gloves.—She said that she knew that Miss Penn was acquainted, even more than acquainted, with her husband. She also showed him, she said, a picture of Miss Penn which she found on the captain's desk at Fort Monroe. She said the letter being found by her in his effects at Fort Monroe. In the letter she said there was a fair of white kid gloves and a white cashmere rose and that the letter contained references to the kid gloves and the rose.

At this point in the reading of the deposition, Special Assistant Attorney General Hurlburt objected to the presentation of what he called "further" but Attorney Fletcher Tanney, who with Mr. Hurlburt obtained the deposition, contended that it was important to the defence inasmuch as it tended to show that Miss Penn and the "Miss Pennington" with whom Captain Stearns was alleged to have been caught in a raid in Cambridge in June, 1915, were one and the same person, and that it tended to disprove the charges of the attorney-general that Tufts was involved in a conspiracy to "frame up" Captain Stearns. On that basis it was ruled admissible as evidence.

The various statements made by Mrs. Brown that Tufts said he had in his employ or knew of people who would arrange the matter for Miss Stearns and that she would hear from him later were denied in succession. She said that her reason for going to Mr. Tufts in the first place was because she knew him and was acquainted with his wife and had a high regard for his judgment and integrity.

She said that Mr. Coakley was suggested to her by another friend, and that she told Tufts that she was informed he was an able lawyer. She said that Mr. Tufts agreed that that was so.

Then she told of the visit to Coakley and of his agreeing to take the case with the understanding that his fee would be a third of any settlement made by Captain Stearns.

She said she then went away and that subsequently she received a telegram from Coakley and, returning to Boston, learned that her husband had been followed and caught in the Cambridge raid.

Mrs. Abrams' Deposition.—

The reading of the cross-examination by Attorney Hurlburt was unfinished at the adjournment of court, but Mrs. Sewall's positive assertions that Tufts refused to handle the case for her and had nothing further to do with it were unshaken, so far as read into evidence.

A deposition by Mrs. Florence Abrams, wife of Hiram Abrams, one of the moving picture magnates concerned in the Mishawum Manor revel on March 6, 1917, was produced in evidence. Her deposition related chiefly to the receipt by her of a clipping from the Boston Post telling about the Mishawum Manor revel and mentioning her husband's name as being one of the moving picture men there.

Mention of this clipping was made earlier in the trial, it being contended that it was a part of the plot to extort money from the moving picture man, who was taking the position that he will show the one of the lawyers connected with the alleged conspiracy sent it to Mrs. Abrams.

Attorney Hurlburt said that some evidence in this regard has been introduced and that "more will be." Attorney Hurlburt called attention of the court to the fact that Attorney Joseph M. Leveon had admitted that the writing on the envelope containing the clipping looked "something like" his.

The state put in a deposition obtained from Attorney Charles Connor of New York, formerly connected with the office of Whipple, Sears & Ogden. His deposition concerning the James B. Munroe case, Connor told of interviews with Tufts and of being assured that Tufts would not proceed against Munroe without consulting him.

He said that despite that agreement Tufts had Munroe indicted and caused a capias for his arrest to be issued and that he regarded it as a direct violation of his agreement. He said that he immediately called Tufts on and told him he felt that he had broken his agreement, that Tufts was angry, and after that he was unable to reach the district attorney, always being told he was busy or out.

He said that when the case came up he asked the presiding justice to impose the papers and that Tufts strenuously objected, stating that because a man had money no exceptions should be made. The judge, however, imposed the papers, he said.

Saw Coakley Paid $12,500.

At that time he said Coakley was retained as associate counsel and that Coakley stated that in such cases he usually asked a fee of $25,000, but that owing to the fact that he was friendly with Mr. Whipple (Sherman L. Whipple) he would split his charge and handle it for $12,500. He modified that somewhat in the same interview, saying he was willing to make a charge of $10,000 for services and $2,500 for "disbursements."

The indictment was not pressed about a month after Coakley came in to the case, and he saw Coakley paid by check by his client $12,500 and some odd dollars. In reply to a question given him by his client, Munroe's client to withhold certain information given him by his client, Munroe.

Brother Of "Laddie Boy" In Court

DENVER, Colo., July 29.—"Dickey Boy," brother of "Laddie Boy," President Harding's Airedale dog, was a defendant in police court yesterday on a charge of killing chickens. "Dickey Boy" is owned by Albert R. Lowrie, a wealthy Denver broker, and dog fancier. Mr. Lowrie offered to pay for all the chickens killed if evidence of their death was produced. Evidence not being conclusive, Judge Rice took the case under advisement. "You don't think a dog with a brother in the White House would stoop to chasing chickens, do you?" Mr. Lowrie asked the judge. "Well, I shouldn't think so," the judge replied.

"Capitol No Longer Chicken Roost"

MADISON, Wis., July 29.—The pigeons of the capitol park here are doomed to extinction following decision of the superintendent of public property that they must be done away with in order to further the economy program. Hundreds of the birds known by people of the state as peps, are to be killed in a campaign started today. Expert riflemen posted in the Capitol building already have brought down a large number. "It is costing the state hundreds of dollars to keep these creatures," Superintendent Morris said. "We can't have the Capitol a chicken roost."

Spoke Throws Mean Rope

BY DEAN SNYDER
Everybody knows a lot about Tris Speaker, the ball player, but they know little about Spoke, the cowboy. The tall Texan wields a mean ball bat—also he throws a mean rope. All Texans do—that is the real fellow who grew up in the longhorn cattle districts. Hubbard City, Spoke's home town, is a cattle town. The natural dress down, there consists of a pair of boots, chaps, bandana handkerchief, a colored shirt, a tall hat and a lariat. Spoke owns a ranch near Hubbard and he has it well stocked with future pot roasts and porterhouse steaks. He used to work on a ranch before he got into baseball. Each fall a veteran he goes back to his rope and his saddle. Lots of fun. I'm not the best roper in the world," says Spoke, "but it's a lot of fun. At the Fort Worth rodeo last fall I roped and tied a couple of steers in 14 seconds each. That's considered fair time unless you are in the business all the time. Recently Spoke competed in a rop-says.

Marshall Field May Buy Stable

CHICAGO, July 29.—A published report that Marshall Field is to take over the racing establishment of Sir Ernest Cassel, at Newmarket, England, at the close of the present racing season, brought expressions of doubt from Mr. Field's associates here today. They said Mr. Field was in England and that he would not undertake the game to the extent required by ownership of one of England's largest stables. Sir Ernest Cassel, an intimate friend of King Edward VII, has been prominent in English racing circles for many years, it was explained.

TRIS SPEAKER INJURED THE TWILIGHT LEAGUE OLD TIME BALL PLAYERS

May Be Out of Game Few Days—Pennant Race in Both Leagues Tighten Up
South Ends and Highland Daylights' Game Postponed on Account of Rain
Stars of Other Days, Under Management of Nap Lajoie Play at Cleveland

NEW YORK, July 29.—By winning their third straight game from the Pirates yesterday, the Giants edged a little closer to the National league leadership, only eight points separating the two clubs. The battles for first position in both leagues are not only close but very similar in figures. Pittsburgh, the National circuit leader, and Cleveland on top in the American league, have won one game each and lost with a percentage of .528. The Yankees, in second place in the American, and the Giants in the same berth in the senior organization, each have lost the same number of games—31—but McGraw's team has won one more game than the Yanks. The National team's victories number 55, while the American club has won 53.

Both the Yankees and the Cleveland team won from their respective opponents yesterday. Manager Tris Speaker, centerfielder, may be lost to the Cleveland team for several days due to a fracture of a small bone in his ankle, suffered while turning first base in Boston yesterday.

PHINNEY BOYLE SOON TO RE-ENTER RING

Phinney Boyle, Lowell's popular lightweight boxer, who has been out of the game for many months, as a result of an injury to his left hand, is rapidly recovering and expects to soon re-enter the ring. Following a successful operation, Boyle's hand has improved daily and he is now working every day, and avers that the "ain" is as strong as ever. He is "training" by swinging the "American anchor" by excavating for the new arena in the Highlands, and feels that if he can do this kind of strenuous work, he certainly ought to be able to return to the ring arena and swap punches with an opponent.

He feels that in a few weeks he will be able to perform and declares that he will accept the challenges hurled at him by California Frankie Burns, and others during the time he has been "on the shelf."

Lowell fans will be delighted if Boyle is again able to box, for when going right, he is one of the classiest performers of his weight in the ring. He has not fought since he lost to South Boston Johnny Downs, in a spurious encounter, but up until that setback he had piled up a long string of victories, under his new manager, John Farrell of the Quaker Ridge club.

Boyle will pilot him, and he expects to again stage a victorious streak.

George Chapman, of West Virginia, a contender for the title now in Lowell, and he is in search of matches in this vicinity. He has met many of the leading "116-118 pound boys, and claims a decision over Frankie Mason as one of his achievements.

PANNED WERDEN FOR MAKING HOME RUNS

BY NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE
SIoux FALLS, S. D., July 29.—The old home-run king takes off his hat to the new one.

Perry Werden, home run king, who made four of 45 drives in 1920, admits that Babe Ruth has a harder swing than he had when he made his mark.

"There is no doubt but that Babe has it on all points—modern and ancient," says Werden.

"His swing and his weight are his biggest assets."

"When I made my record, I was playing with the St. Paul club of the old Western league."

"There wasn't much talk about my 45 home runs then, but I swung too hard, and because I swung too hard, I was panned."

"Fences were farther back then. I had to hit the ball hard to lift it out of the park."

"I weighed 150 pounds—I had been heavier I might have hit them as far as Babe is concerned."

"I was right-handed. My average that year was .428."

Now Umpire
Werden is now calling balls and strikes in the Dakota League.

"I ain't as spry as he once was, but he runs the game like a czar."

"His record was almost forgotten until Ruth made 29 home runs or so. Then the boys on Werden was dug up for comparison."

The best day at Werden ever had was on July 23, 1920, when he rapped out four home runs and a single in five times at bat, giving the slinger a total of 37 bases for one game.

Werden stood at the plate with his feet close together, lifted himself back and met the ball with his whole weight behind the bat.

RAIN AGAIN INTERFERES AT COLUMBUS MEET

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Rain, which had hooded the Grand Circuit since the opening day, upset the plans again yesterday after but one of the four events carded had been finished. The Laurel Hall colt, the Great Volo, brother to the two champions, Peter Volo and Volga, was the lone race winner of the afternoon, the youngster getting in three straight winning heats before the downpour came, beating a small field in the event for three-year-old trotters.

One of the most brilliant contests of the week was started in the stake for 2:05 trotters, in which two first choices, The Toddler and Great Britton, won heats before the storm.

While the free-for-all pace was unfinished, old Single G. had won two heats and had clinched first honors before the storm.

The 2:08 trot was the speculative event of the day. The Toddler selling for $150, Great Britton $100, Greyhound $80, Walnut Frisco $40 and the field $15. The Toddler led all the way in the first heat, Greyhound racing him to the upper turn and breaking.

The Cleveland horse winning, eased up in 2:04 1/2. Great Britton had trotted an easy heat this time, but he took after The Toddler and Greyhound in the second, the gray horse making another record of 2:04 1/2.

Single G. made all the pace in the first heat of the free-for-all and won easily, and in the second, after Gardner had led to the stretch, the old warrior came on and won in 2:04 1/2.

The Great Volo was a $50 to $40 favorite over the field for the colt race and jogged off with the three heats and trotted the final heat in 2:04 1/2.

A noteworthy workout of the forenoon was that of Peter Manning, which Tom Murphy worked in 2:03 and back in 2:02 1/2. The final quarter of each heat in 29 seconds; Murphy also worked the 4-year colt Alton Guy, winner of the 1920 Kentucky futurity, in 2:04 1/2.

WILLIAMS CLASHES WITH JAPANESE STAR

BOSTON, July 29.—R. Norris Williams 2d of Longwood and Zenzo Shimidzu of Japan will play the final match of the singles competition for the Longwood bowl on the Longwood courts at Chestnut Hill this afternoon.

The winner of the contest will then be pitted against William M. Johnston of California, who made his appearance yesterday, in the challenge match to-morrow afternoon. Today's final is scheduled for 2:45 o'clock.

Williams defeated Wallace J. Bates of University of California in straight sets yesterday. The player from the far western coast, winner of the recent Canadian singles championship, only had one chance of winning a set from the ex-national champion. In this he made an error of judgment, which cost him dearly and which he must have against him, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

In the other semifinal, Shimidzu played better than at any time during the tournament. He gave a rare exhibition of clever covering, was a tireless worker and, at the end of the four sets, which were enough to give him victory, Johnson was a very used up player. The score was 2-6, 6-0, 6-1, 7-5.

Tilden Out of Tournament
The tournament committee received word from Bill Tilden, the world's greatest tennis player, that he will be unable to play in the doubles division, as he had promised. He sent word to R. Norris Williams. The telegram from Woburn, N. H., where he is resting, read: "Rest is imperative. The Lowell State National Tennis Association that Tilden would be on hand, but owing to the necessity of his being in first-class condition, he headed the wishes of the Davis Cup committee and declined the offer. He will take a rest. He was to have been partner of Williams in doubles."

BRITISH REPLY TO FRANCE

Note on Upper Silesian Question Delivered by French Foreign Office

Said to be Friendly in "Marked Contrast to Attitude Displayed in French Note"

PARIS, July 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Great Britain's reply to the latest French note on the Upper Silesian question was delivered at the foreign office this morning by Lord Hurst, the British ambassador.

hour's conversation between Lord Hardinge and Premier Briand ensued. The note will be considered at a cabinet meeting called for 4.30 p. m.

Britain Denies Charge

LONDON, July 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Great Britain's note to France regarding the Silesian problem, dispatched last night and delivered in Paris this morning, recapitulates the circumstances which led to the present situation and refutes the allegation that Great Britain had set herself against the French and was thereby strengthening the German attitude.

Officials describe the note as of a friendly character, in "marked contrast to the attitude displayed in the French note" to which it is a reply. Great Britain, officials declared, is still anxious to consider any means by which the French can be met, but it is emphasized that according to the news being received in London there is no danger threatening the French troops in Silesia which renders the sending of reinforcements urgently necessary as the French have claimed.

The note calls attention to what is described as "the extraordinary action on the part of France" in endeavoring to act independently of the supreme council in insisting upon the immediate despatch of troops. It points out that this is an impossible basis upon which to pursue any future policy together, and that no good purpose "would be served" by "believing" that the situation until there was a clear understanding of France's intentions.

REBUTAL WITNESSES IN BASEBALL TRIAL

CHICAGO, July 29.—The baseball trial resumed today with the state preparing a hasty list of rebuttal witnesses after the sudden move of the defense yesterday in resting its case with nearly a score of witnesses yet to be examined.

State's attorneys intimated that several witnesses could be called today, these probably including Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis ballplayer who was not used by the state in its direct examination.

The surprise action of the defense, which followed testimony of White Sox players that tended to refute the statements of Bill Burns, the star state's witnesses concerning the former Sox players on trial for conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series, left future action on both sides a mat-

ONLY HADES HOTTER THAN SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, July 29.—Springfield was one of the hottest places this side of the hottest place yesterday, the mercury rising up to the century mark in many sections of the city. It was so warm that when a bale of cotton waste fell off a truck in State street at noon near Winchester square and struck the hot pavement it burst into flames. The fire department was called out to quench the fire. Persons who saw the incident claim the bale struck one edge of a trolley rail which was hot enough to burn the soles off a person's shoes.

The state also was expected to try to show that the conference could have been prior to the practice at the park. The state's rebuttal testimony was expected to take up most of today.

A blind man, Henry Fawcett, introduced the parcels post system in England in 1880.
